Plan Parochial School On Euclid Ave.

UPLAND The News

Property Owners Object To Location

Opposition to a proposed 7th Day Adventist grammar school is developing among residents near the selected location.

The school seeks a conditional use permit from the city to establish a four-classroom building on Euclid Ave. north of 16th St.

Opposition to the school site is spearheaded by Upland developer R. D. Fordham, 1686 N. Euclid Ave., who built two "highly restricted" residential subdivisions adjoining the property owned by the Southeastern California Association of 7th Day Adventists.

Fordham, who says he is joined by a great many other property owners in opposing the school location, claims the value and loan commitments on adjoining properties would depreciate.

According to Fordham, the school development will close First Ave. south from one of the residential areas and an alley east of Euclid frontage lots. The alley is the only sewage outlet that his tract can look to for future installation of a sewage line, Fordham stated.

In his letter to the Planning Commission, he wrote: "at no time since 1956 ... has the Engineering Dept. of this city considered any plan that would deprive First Ave. and the alley back of Euclid Ave. frontage from going through to 16th St. The people that bought property in both tracts were told of this future plann ing."

A third objection listed by Fordham was that a grammar school and its recreation yard adjoining must be looked upon in the light of a nuisance with respect to noise and that the property owners should not be expected to suffer.

The developer also said that if the Conditional Use Permit was granted for the school, it would create an island and prevent a direct and proper route for property owners to their homes and garages and for sewer disposal, water drainage and trash pickup.

Fordham said he had no animosity toward the church but that the school should be built on a more suitable site.

The Planning Commission has set a public hearing on the request for the CUP for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 28.

Malcolm Lewis Gets Lockheed Scholarship

A 17-year Upland High School senior who plans an engineering career in the aerospace industry was awarded a four-year Lockheed Leadership Fund Scholarship covering full tuition and fees, and $500 annually in expenses.

Malcolm Lewis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patton Lewis of 8335 Camino Sur, Cucamonga, was one of two winners in the southwestern states area. More than 400 outstanding high school seniors, sons and daughters of Lockheed employees, compete annually for six Lockheed scholarships awarded nationally.

Final selection of winners, based on both leadership and scholarship, is made in each of the three U.S. geographic regions by a panel of distinguished citizens not affiliated with the Lockheed corporation.

At Upland High School young Lewis is a Gold Seal Bearer for the Scholarship Society and received the Bausch and Lomb Science Award as the outstanding senior science student.

He has been a member of the inter-club council and student senate and served as secretary, vice president and president of Hi-Y. He participated in water polo, tennis and yachting and is active in Boy Scouts, serving as senior patrol leader.

Announcement of the Lockheed Scholarship was made by Ralph J. Osborn, Lockheed Aircraft Service Company president, during a Tuesday luncheon honoring the Lewis family at the Lockheed-California Company in Burbank.

The winner's father, Patton Lewis, is Engineering manager at Lockheed Aircraft Service in Ontario.

Pony League Signs Sponsor; New Managers

The Upland Pony League announces, through its President Vern Orum, a new sponsor for the 1963 season; the Berry Construction Company has been signed as the new sponsor for the defunct Upland American Legion team.

Mr. Neil Cosgrove will continue as manager of the new team. Returning teams in the Pony League circuit are Antimite Associates, Ontario Elks Club, Hartig Plumbing, Lucille's Beauty Shop, Calloway Construction, Rugg Lumber, and Upland Rotary Club.

New managers and coaches to the Pony League for the season are Mr. Jim Christensen, managing the Hartig Plumbing Company team, assited by Dr. Steve Kogut. Christensen and Kogut come to the Pony League after several successful years managing pennant winners in the Foothill Little League.

The second new manager in the League is Virgil Barbee, who will manage the Lucille's Beauty Shop team. Mr. Barbee also comes to Pony League competition from the Foothill Little League.

Mr. Harry Whitten is the new manager of the Rugg Lumber Company team. Managers returning for another year are Don Taylor, Bob Campbell, and Bob Clarke.

All boys in the 13 and 14 year old category who are not members of the present Pony League teams are invited to the try-outs at Hawkins Field on Saturday, March 30.

Boys who have not signed up through their physical education classes in the Junior High Schools should sign up at Ralph's Sporting Goods in Upland.

The try-outs for boys in the 14 year old bracket are scheduled for 9 a.m., while the try-outs for the 13 year olds is scheduled for 12 noon.

Attempt Euclid Parkway Compromise

A City Councilman 'jumped the gun' on a citizens group at Tuesday night's council meeting and proposed a plan for the Euclid Ave. parkway in the hopes 'of satisfying everyone."

Councilman Bob Marriott, just a step ahead of representatives of the 'Citizens Committee to Save Euclid Avenue," on the agenda, made a five-part motion:

(1) to accept the recommendations of the Parks and Recreation Committee,

(2) to develop a landscape plan for the parkway as a compromise.

(3) that the parkway south of Foothill Blvd. be restudied to adopt a plan of blending the old with the new,

(4) that plans for each block be reviewed by the Parks and Recreation and posted for citizens to see prior to any action by the council, and

(5) the block already planted remain.

Councilman James Christensen said that the "blending of the old with the new" was not in keeping with the apparent wishes of the people and he hated to see another 3-2 vote by the council.

"I believe we should bring this to a head by putting it to a vote of the people," Christensen said.

He also said the Parks and Recreation Committee had been the same for the past several years and would probably stay with the present recommendations.

"We don't have to accept the recommendations of the Parks and Recreation Committee," Council William Kistinger interjected.

Mayor Abner Haldeman stated that the committee had been selected because of the individuals interest and standing in the community and their economic know-how.

"No money will be spent on the parkway until a plan evolves from the committee," the Mayor said.

Marriott's motion passed the council by the usual 3-2 vote: Mayor Haldeman and Councilmen Kistinger and Marriott in favor and Councilmen Christensen and Max Hawkins against.

Richard E. Holdaway, chairman of the Citizens Committee, told the council that with the adoption of Marriott's motion "we're probably a little late."

"We're concerned with what is ultimately done with Euclid Ave.," he said. "It has been said that we represent a minority, but this is not true, and a referendum will bear it out."

Mayor Haldeman asked if he thought a referendum was necessary as long as everything is stopped and the people can appear before the Parks and Recreation Committee as well as view any proposed plans.

Holdaway said his group was willing to hold up its action to see what the council does.

"A compromise is o.k.," Holdaway said, "as long as it's not alternating palms and shade trees." He made it clear that he was speaking as an individual and not for the group as a whole.

Another part of the compromise will be to appoint a member of the Citizens Committee to Save Euclid Ave. to the Parks and Recreation Committee replacing Charles N. Walker who resigned some time ago.

The Citizens Committee presented to the council for a place on the agenda, a letter, signed by Holdaway, and a statement of the group's purposes and principles.

Following is the cover letter written to the council:

'As you know, many residents of Upland both directly to you and through The Upland News have recently expressed grave concern over the changes which have occurred and which are planned in the landscaping of the center parkway of Euclid Avenue. The Chamber of Commerce, the Business and Professional Women's group, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce have directly voiced opinion that the traditional pattern of shade trees be preserved and that the matter be submitted to the voters of this community if necessary.

"Deeply disturbed by the growing controversy, a group

PAUL MORTIMER, left, is wished good luck by Acting Upland Postmaster John James upon his retirement after more than 30 years of government service. A native of Washington, D. C., Mr. Mortimer has served with the Marine Corps and postal service. He came to this area from Boise, Idaho in August of 1951 and has covered the area bounded by 6th Ave., 8th St., Grove and Arrow Hwy. since that time. He will officially retire March 31, although Wednesday, March 20 is his last day on the route. For the past 11 years, Mr. Mortimer has walked an average of 14.2 miles per day. He says the patrons in his area "have been very wonderful to me." Postmaster James said there has never been a complaint against "Mort" and "he is one man we really hate to lose." His retirement plans call for "crossing each bridge as I come to it" mixed with some fishing in Idaho, continuing his walks, and painting his daughter's horse in La Mirada. He will continue to make his home at 1341 N. Euclid in Ontario.

HS District Bond Issue

Study Indicates Minor Affect On Tax Rate

A new study on the bond redemption tax rate for the Chaffey High School District was presented to the Board of Trustees Monday night.

The study, completed by the district Chief Accountant and checked by the County Auditor's office, indicates that the tax rate for the next several years will not be drastically affected by the passage of the $10.5 million bond issue slated for May 28 election.

Original estimates showed an expected tax hike of 40.4 cents per $100 assessed valuation over a seven year period.

The new study, however, reveals that if the bond issue passes the bond redemption tax rate will decrease by approximately 2½ cents for the 1963-64 tax year, then level off at about the current rate for the three years following.

For the years of 1967-68 through 69-70, the rate will increase slowly to a maximum of .548 cents which is 4½ cents over the present bond tax rate of .503.

After 1970 the rate drops rapidly during the next five years to a rate of 32½ cents, providing no additional bond issues are passed in the district.

The study took into consideration bond repayment schedules, estimated future bond sales over the next 7-8 years

7th Day Adventists Seek City Permit

A request for a Conditional Use Permit to establish a Parochial school on Euclid Ave. 500 feet north of 16th St. is being sought by the Southeastern California Association of 7th Day Adventists.

The Upland City Planning Commission has set a public hearing to consider the request for 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 28.

Plans call for the grammar school to be constructed on a 3.8 acre site in a present R-1-B zone.

Harold J. Lance of Upland, chairman of the planning committee for the new school, says the initial construction will be four classrooms plus administrative facilities.

The school, planned for students of grades 1 through 8, will eventually be expanded to eight classrooms during the next 10 years.

An enrollment of 50 students by next fall is expected with a maximum enrollment during the next few years of 200 students. All students will be from the Upland-Ontario area.

The school will be governed by local people on the boards of area 7th Day Adventist churches. Most of the board members, according to Lance, are residents of Upland and Ontario.

We plan to preserve the architecture which is now in keeping with Euclid Ave.," Lance said, "and will use as much of the natural landscaping as possible."

Parking and entrance areas are planned for the rear of the building.

Initially the school will have three teachers and the possibility of one bus operating for student pickup next fall.

Philip Kelber Wins Vegas Trip

Philip Kelber, 1428 N. First Ave., Upland, had the "luck of the Irish" early this week as his name was drawn as the winner of the free Las Vegas trip sponsored by the Upland Shopping Center.

The event was the climax to the annual St. Patrick's Sale of Upland merchants.

Mr. Kelber, associated with Jimmy's Service Stations, has lived in Upland nine years.

He has not yet decided on a date for the Las Vegas trip, but says his 13-year-old daughter is already demanding payment. She dropped his name in the hat!

The winning name was drawn by 4-year-old Nannette MacFarlane, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John MacFarlane, 723 Emerson.

George Imhoff Appointed To Upland Justice Court

George D. Imhoff, 59, of 475 E. 9th St., Upland, was appointed late Tuesday afternoon as the new Judge of the Upland Judicial District upon the recommendation of Supervisor Daniel D. Mikesell.

Mr. Imhoff fills the vacancy created by the death of Judge Fred Jacobs last Aug. 1. The post has been filled on a temporary basis by Judge Oren Matthews of Big Bear Lake.

A native of Kansas, Mr. Imhoff has lived in this area for 38 years.

He entered law enforcement work with the Ontario Police Dept. in 1941 and was later appointed Constable for the Ontario Justice Court, a position he held for five years.

In 1946 he became judge of both the Ontario Justice Court and the Ontario City Court.

When the Ontario Municipal Court was formed in 1957, he became Chief Clerk of that court, a position he now holds.

Mr. Imhoff's wife, Katie, is president of the Ontario Woman's Club. They have two married daughters, Joan and Billie, and four grandchildren, all of Ontario.

The new Judge of the Upland Court was a personal friend of the late Judge Jacobs.

"I have many friends in Upland," Mr. Imhoff said, "and I look forward to pleasant associations."

Mr. Imhoff said he had agreed to accept the post with the understanding that there is a possibility of consolidation of area courts sometime in the future.

In view of the rapid growth of the area, Imhoff said, if consolidation should come within the next five to ten years, it would be out of our hands.

"We look forward to the continuance of the Upland Judicial District, however, for several years," he said.

His appointment is effective immediately and he will take over his new duties as soon as his present work permits.

'Peddler' Welcomed After 65-Mile Jaunt

There are all sorts of sports and bicycle riding is one of the favorites. Few people, however, enjoy "peddling" as much as Harry Dickerman of Tarzana.

Mr. Dickerman recently checked in to the Uolander Motor Hotel on Foothill Blvd. after a 65-mile bike ride.

No one was more surprised than Uplander manager Ted Lyman.

As Lyman was assigning a room to his guest, he told him where he could park his car, but was interrupted with the explanation that Dickerman had peddled his way to Upland all the way from Tarzana.

Said Lyman: 'We've checked in guests who have arrived by many means - plane, auto, taxi, bus, train, even semi-truck and trailer rigs - but this is the first time we've ever checked in anyone on a bicycle."

Dickerman, 56, has been enjoying the sport of bike riding for several years. Other excursions have included a 200-mile bike trip and long portage trips in Canada, north of his native Minnesota. He also plays lots of golf and bowls to keep fit.

Every member of the Dickerman family, his wife, two sons and two daughters, have bicycles and enjoy the sport.

"They have never accompanied me on any of these long trips," Dickerman said, "and, frankly, my wife thought I was out of my mind when I started out on this one."

When asked why he was doing this, the ardent bike rider replied - 'I'm just commuting between my roller skating rink in lendale and the one in San Bernardino."

He left Tarzana at 6:30 a.m. and peddled to Glendale where he was told to "get off the sidewalk and ride in the street." Then to Pasadena where he was told to "get out of the street, it's reserved for cars."

Lyman bid his guest farewell at sunrise the following morning as Dickerman started on his way to San Bernardino.

"What next," said the hotel manager, "roller skates?"

A FREE RIDE to a guest room is offered to Harry Dickerman, right, of Tarzana, by Ted Lyman, manager of the Uplander Motor Hotel. Dickerman peddled 65 miles on Route 66 and is the first Uplander guest to have arrived by bicycle.

County Soil Erosion Law In Effect

A county ordinance for the control of blowing sand and to prevent soil erosion by wind has been passed by the Board of Supervisors and is now in effect.

The area under control includes the boundaries of Wilson Ave. on the north, Etiwanda Ave. on the east, Riverside Ave. on the south and Grove Ave. on the west.

The new ordinance will be administered by the Agricultural Commissioner and a branch office has been opened in the County Building in Cucamonga at 8076 Archibald with Agricultural Inspector Harold Anderson in charge. Office hours will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Applications for permits to disturb the soil may be obtained during those hours.

Anderson and his assistant, James Nance, will also make routine surveys within the area to see that provisions of the ordinance are followed and that violators are cited.

The ordinance prohibits the disturbance of soil by any means within the described area without first having obtained a valid permit from the Agricultural Commissioner.

Exceptions are made when the disturbance is confined to an area of one acre or less; when such activities are required by another ordinance; when necessary to grade, trench or otherwise install, repair or replace utility services with the utility rights of way.

Attempt Euclid Compromise --

of citizens of this community have joined together as the Citizens Committee to Save Euclid Avenue. We believe that the vast majority of interested residents feel as we do and we therefore respectfully request the City Council to establish a policy preserving the beauty of Euclid Avenue by adopting the enclosed ordinance.

"May we request that this matter be placed upon your agenda for the March 19th meeting and that our proposal be acted upon at that time.

"Thank you for your courtesy and attention.

The committee's statement of purposes and principles is a five-part document as follows:

"As citizens and registered voters of the City of Upland, we are proud of our community and desire to defend and preserve those attributes which make Upland such a fine place in which to live and raise our families. We have associated ourselves in a Citizens Committee for the following purposes and in accordance with the following principles and agreements.

"(1) We believe and agree that the cool and distinctive natural beauty of Euclid Avenue from Seventh Street to Twenty-fourth Street with its pattern of lacy pepper trees in the center parkway, and the stately grevillias along the sides is a valuable, unique asset and "trademark" of our city loved by we who live here and remembered and admired by those who have visited Upland.

"Recently completed landscaping between Ninth and "C" Streets and similar landscaping planned elsewhere on Euclid Avenue deviate markedly from its traditional beauty. If permitted to remain and continue, they will destroy this desirable asset of our city.

"(2) We believe that the vast majority of the citizens of Upland want to preserve the traditional beauty of Euclid Avenue and are opposed to the new type plantings.

"(3) We believe that the City Council of the City of Upland should immediately establish by ordinance that the historical pattern of shade trees along the center parkway of Euclid Avenue shall be maintained and preserved by replacing existing trees when they have to be removed because of age, sickness or damage, etc. with other strong and healthy trees of similar ornamental shade variety and that where trees have been heretofore removed without replacement, replanting of such shade trees be completed at the earliest feasible time.

"(4) In the event, the City Council fails or refuses to enact such an ordinance, we believe that the matter must be submitted to the voters of this community at a special election in the very near future and we shall support and work diligently for the holding of such an election and the passage of such an ordinance.

"(5) We call upon all concerned to join with their friends and neighbors in this community appeal and effort to save the beauty and symmetry of Euclid Avenue."

The suggested ordinance referred to in No. 3 above read:

"It is hereby ordained that the pattern of tree landscaping in the center parkway of Euclid Avenue from Seventh Street to Twenty-fourth Street shall remain consistent with the traditional and historical pattern as it existed prior to 1960 and, accordingly ornamental shade trees of lacy variety shall be planted when existing trees must of necessity be removed. Where trees have been removed and not replaced, ornamental shade trees shall be expeditiously planted. Previous programs, plantings, landscaping, or designs inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby disapproved and any authorization heretofore granted approving or authorizing execution of the same is hereby declared null and void and of no effect. This ordinance shall be effective forthwith upon its passage.

Officers of the Citizens Committee to Save Euclid Avenue are: Chairman, Richard E. Holdaway, 1358 No. Shelley; Vice-Chairman, Richard Balph, 1340 Taylor Way; Secretary, Mrs. R. L. McKee, 552 Cornell Ct.; and Treasurer, David Briggs, 472 Yale Ct.

Stephen Weisbrod Claims Dutch Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Weisbrod of Pacific Grove, Calif., former long time residents of the Upland area, are announcing the marriage of their son Stephen, to Miss Joke Van Der Ploeg of Amsterdam, Holland. She is the daughter of Mrs. De Rouwe Van Den Anker of that city.

Stephen has been attending the University of Amsterdam, where he has been studying sociology and psychology.

In December he was accepted for service in the Peace Corps but found he could not leave his "Yos" behind. Since she is a senior ward nurse in one of the largest hospitals in Amsterdam, they decided to apply to the Peace Corps to go as a married team. They must come to this country and have "Yos" become established here before that is possible.

They are now on a temporary waiting list, but hope to be taken this year.

After being at home in Pacific Grove for the summer, if they still have not gone, then Stephen will continue with his schooling, and "Yos" will work in a hospital, and get her California nursing certificate.

Stephen and his bride expect to leave Holland around the first of April, coming by ship to Montreal, and then by bus from there.

Later, there will be a reception for them at the "Church of the Wayfarer" in Carmel-by-the-Sea, where the Weisbord family are members.

On hand to welcome the newly married pair will be an older borther, Roger, and his wife Barbara, and their small daughter, Wendy Jean. A younger brother, Dennis, who is a senior at Pacific Grove High School is also looking forward to meeting his new Dutch sister-in-law.

The Weisbrods have now sold their 'Buena Vista Cottages" in Carmel-by-the-Sea. Mr. Weisbrod is with the Holman Co. in Pacific Grove, and just recently Mrs. Weisbrod is at Brosche-Interiors in Carmel.

The family continues to be active in American Field Service foreign students, and keep in constant touch with their own "German Son", Werner Mikschiezek of Munich, Germany. He lived with the Weisbrods during his and Stephen's senior year at Santa Ynez Union High School, at Solvang where the family lived for five years before moving to the Monterey Peninsula.

Trustees adopted a resolution to support Assembly Bill 888, school finance bill pending in the State Legislature.

The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus of Fresno County, call for $94 million in new state money in addition to $25 million in new local district money through the county-wide tax program.

Nearly all the profesional educational and related organizations are united on a major school finance proposal. Backing AB 888 are the PTA, Calif. School Board Assoc., Calif. Assoc. of Secondary School Administrators, Calif. Elementary School Administrators Assoc., Calif. School Employees Assoc., and the Calif. Assoc. of School Administrators.

The California Teachers Association is also supporting the bill, but will probably seek later amendments for supplementary financing. Assembly Bill 312, sponsored by the CTA, has been set aside in favor of AB 888.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Canella, 1464 Gertrudita Ct., Upland, on March 13 at San Antonio Hospital.

A public hearing on a proposed 15-acre annexation to the City of Upland was continued to the May 21 meeting and the Council initiated action with the planning commission to change the zone from A-1 to commercial when the property is annexed.

The parcel, owned by Mike Kelber of Ontario, is located at the northwest corner of Mountain Ave. and 16th St., and, according to Kelber, will be developed for commercial use to include a supermarket and a bowling alley.

Kelber said the area would be developed in the county area if it is not annexed to the city and asked that the hearing be continued so the zone change could be made.

Councilman James Christensen, who cast the single vote against continuing the hearing, mentioned that several weeks ago another parcel at the same intersection was denied rezoning for commercial use.

"I've learned from sad experience," Christensen said, "that beautiful renderings presented to the council when commercial rezoning is sought mean nothing."

He referred to property at 7th and Mountain that was rezoned for a shopping center and now had a for sale sign posted.

Christensen suggested a Conditional Use Permit for the Mountain and 16th acreage, but Kelber would not accept "because financing is almost impossible on a CUP."

Auditors Report On County Payroll Distribution; Grand Jury Makes Recommendations

(Editor's Note: The 1962 County Grand Jury issued instructions Oct. 17 to Diehl, Evans & Co. of Santa Ana, Certified Public Accountants, to plan and organize a surprise independent Personal Payroll Pay-off for Dec. 10, 1962. The CPA's were directed to abandon the plans on Dec. 6. Following is the report from Diehl, Evans & Co. on this special project.)

During our pre-employment discussions and subsequently the Grand Jury expressed to us great concern about the fraudulent practices by employees within the county discovered during the fiscal year subject to examination.

The Audit Committee of the Grand Jury reviewed with us the nature of each misappropriation of funds and expressed a desire that, to the extent possible, we satisfy ourselves that similar situations did not exist.

In regards to the case involving fictitious employees being carried on the payroll, we indicated that our usual audit procedures would not disclose fictitious employees if such payrolls appeared to be properly documented.

Under the circumstances we extended our audit examination to include direct confirmation by circularization of selected pay checks on a test basis.

During the course of our examination and at one of our regular meetings with the Audit Committee we informed them that the Grand Jury auditor for another county in the state was conducting an independent personal PAYROLL PAY-OFF.

This information was of great interest to the Audit Committee, and we discussed the advantages and problems incidental to such a project. In response to their question we also stated that this was the most direct and surest audit procedure for satisfying oneself that situations similar to the one mentioned above did not exist elsewhere in the county.

We also stated that the observation or conduct of a PAYROLL PAY-OFF by the auditor was a generally recognized audit procedure set forth in many text books and utilized by auditors when the circumstances present indicated the advisability of its employment.

After much discussion and long consideration the Grand Jury directed us to proceed with plans for a PAYROLL PAY-OFF utilizing the internal audit staff of the County Auditor - Controller and all members of the Grand Jury.

It was recognized at this time that the PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION was the responsibility of the County Auditor and that her cooperation would be necessary in carrying out the project.

It was also recognized that she would have to authorize all individuals involved to participate in the PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION.

Since the effectiveness and value of the project was dependent on the element of surprise, secrecy was absolutely essential up until the time payrolls had reached a certain point in processing. Until such time as secrecy could be broken, and we would be able to present the program to the Auditor for approval and authorization, we were directed to assume that we would receive the necessary cooperation.

We assumed complete responsibility for planning and organizaing the project, for obtaining approval and authorization of the County Auditor, and for obtaining an opinion from the District Attorney as to the legality of our general plan.

We met with the Grand Jury Auditors of the other county previously referred to and obtained the benefit of their experience. We conferred with the District Attorney and proceeded with our planning.

We made an intensive study of PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION procedures under the guise of systems analysis work, which was a separately authorized special project. The Nov. 30 payroll to be distributed on Dec. 10 was selected because the 10th was on Monday and thus provided the longest possible period between the date when the pay checks would have to be ready for distribution and the date when they would have to be completely distributed. The distribution of the Nov. 15 payroll on or about Nov. 25 was carefully observed by us.

It was recognized that certain departments had special distribution problems that would require special study. The over-all plans were carefully developed over a period of approximately six weeks. During this time the special problem areas were studied to the extent possible short of disclosure of the proposed plans.

Most of the preliminary work was accomplished by Dec. 4, 1962. On this date the payroll was finalized and sent to machine records. That afternoon a conference was held with the County Auditor - Controller, and the plan was presented for approval.

The Auditor stated that such a plan had been discussed many times but that the personnel demands of the operation were beyond staff capability.

After obtaining verification of the legality from the District Attorney, the Auditor gave permission to proceed. With this clearance approximately 750 letters were mailed to those persons who normally receive their warrants by mail informing them when and where they would pick up their payroll warrants.

The following morning the payroll section and machine records were informed that no further changes would be authorized in the payroll. Now action was initiated to solve the problems of the special departments that we were previously unable to resolve.

On the afternoon of Dec. 6, 1962, the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, apparently upon advice of the County Counsel, gave an order to the Auditor not to proceed in this proposed manner but to disburse the payroll only in the normal manner. In compliance with this request, the warrants were returned to the payroll section and distribution was effected in the normal manner.

Although the intended goal of the PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION has seemingly been lost, it is our opinion that certain advantages have been gained. Possibly the hardest to measure and yet possibly the most meaningful is the psychological impact and its deterrent effect on present and future payroll manipulations.

The fact that the distribution was not accomplished as planned has stimulated further interest in the proposed plan of distributing the W-2 statements by mail and thus acting as an internal test of the payroll.

In our study of the procedures employed in the PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION the great amount of time that was being spent effecting the semi-monthly distribution in all departments throughout the county became evident.

It is our recommendation that the whole payroll be distributed by mail regularly. The additional cost would, in our opinion, be offset many times in the value of time saved. There would be the added feature of increased internal control.

We also recommend that consideration be given to the distribution of the payroll bi-weekly instead of semi-monthly. The adoption of the plan would allow for better programming in all echelons of the payroll system and would standardize the day of the week on which each particular operation must be accomplished. It would also allow the pay scale to be computed on a constant daily basis throughout the year.

To ascertain whether any changes were made in the payroll as a result of the proposed pay-off, we recommended to the Auditor that a comparison of the Nov. 10, 1962, payroll and the subsequent payroll be made. This comparison should investigate any changes in personnel, particularly those who drop out of the subsequent payroll, with civil service and the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Special Districts; investigation should also be made of any pay scale or hourly differences.

A continuing program of PAYROLL DISTRIBUTIONS should be conducted by the Auditor on a test basis by selecting those areas in which manipulation has the greatest possibility of occurence.

Consideration should be given to the observation of distribution if actual distribution is not accomplished. In those areas in which PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION is not performed, confirmation by letter should be conducted.

The Grand Jury also submits these recommendations as follows:

1. That the SYSTEMS AND PROCEDURE of handling payroll is not clear and has merely "grown" over the years. The payroll needs further investigation and clear-cut lines of authority, responsibility, and control.

2. That a continuing program of SURPRISE PERSONAL PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION to employees be instituted by the County Auditor's office.

3. That the whole PAYROLL be distributed by mail regularly directly to each employee.

4. That the PAYROLL be compiled and distributed bi-weekly instead of semi-monthly.

5. That great r responsibility be placed on persons preparing PAYROLL information and those attesting to its validity.

6. That an investigation be made into Civil Service practices regarding hiring, especially in the area of "extra help" who become, in effect, permanent employees outside civil service regulations.

7. That the reaction of the Civil Service Director to the PAYROLL investigation deserves additional study and investigation.

8. That a study of time clocks be made. For most employees this will stop abuses such as extended coffee times, late arrival, and early quitting times as well as help verify the payroll.

9. That the November 10, 1962, payroll be compared to subsequent PAYROLLS.

All of these areas would have received additional and better study by the Grand Jury had the SURPRISE PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION gone through as planned.

The psychological impact of the first SURPRISE PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION ever conducted in the county, even though stopped, has had some of its needed effect.

If the Board of Supervisors would build under all county activities an adequate SYSTEMS AND PROCEDURE department, 'PAYROLLS' would be in much better shape.

As a result of the new Chairman of the Board's halting of the PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION, the unilateral action has raised serious questions in a vital area:

The administrative authority and responsibility of each department's activities lies with either the Supervisors or the department head, or a combination of the two. Since the PAYROLL action, the similar question of responsibility and authority is being repeated in regard to other county activities. For illustration purposes, if the payroll authority to control distribution lies with the Supervisors, then they must also assume responsibility for how it is drawn, its authenticity, its distribution, etc.

It is our opinion that in the coming months there will be repeated instances of discussions and clashes over this question of authority and responsibility. They will be solved only through a new SYSTEMS AND PROCEDURE department; a new "climate" and approach of department heads with the internal audit staff of the Auditor's office, which is desirable; a reorganization of the county by examination and revision of the County Charter, with a study toward a more workable county manager form of government, or at least a strengthening and clarification of the position of Administration Services.

It Says Here...

By D. F. Lawrence

On such a beautiful Monday morning, it is easy to see why some of our local citizenry have taken to flying. For instance, Bob Thrall has just achieved his private pilot's license. How wonderful to say to someone, "Let's go to Apple Valley," - and then just take off.

Charlie Barr is well on his way to the same accomplishment.

And speaking of the Barr family - Allen and Edith went to the Rotary convention at the Disneyland Hotel during the week-end. Edith did Disneyland by herself on Friday.

Two more Uplanders were at the convention: Ted Lyman, manager of the Upland-er and Tom Glasheen, principal of Upland High School. They were bachelors for the week-end for Mrs. Lyman could not round up a baby-sitter to stay with their six-month old baby, and Mrs. Glasheen, mother of FIVE boys, acted as nurse to one of them.

Last Friday evening, Chris Lawrence and her mother went to a dinner honoring Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Eddy, Jr. Dr. Eddy is the President of Chatham College, Pittsburgh, Pa.

While at the Huntington-Sheraton in Pasadena, we discovered that knowing the McCallum's is like being born in Texas - no matter where one goes there, too, is a relative.

This time it was Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson, he being a cousin of Marian McCallum. They have a daughter at Smith, a daughter at Chatham, a daughter at Westridge in Pasadena and a younger son.

Dr. Eddy, who has been President of Chatham for three years, had some interesting things to say that seemed worth repeating:

"To quote James Thurber, 'It is not so easy to fool little girls nowadays as it used to be.' "

"Chatham (as all independent schools) should be content to be intelligently non-conformist - not merely a school for experimentation."

"There is an out-worn notion: all good colleges must pattern themselves after a few prestigious ones."

"A good school should achieve excellence in terms of its own objective."

"A liberal education must be an awakening to the concept of man and what makes man what he is ... The student must understand man, the better to know herself ... The end product of a liberal education should be the making of a better person, living a better life and realizing the worth of the individual."

"A student needs inequality in order to relize her own abilities and her own role in life."

"Women like to be better men to be better off."

"Planning for one's own home and marriage should not exclude education."

"Students should have a sense of connection with big events ... She should develop a passion for ideas bigger than herself."

Dr. Eddy has been widely quoted in Newsweek, Life, the New York Times and many other publications. He is young and fortunately has many more years in which to expound his ideas and make them work.

Lee Cook and his family now have his brother and his family visiting here from New Jersey. Minus the age differential, they could be twins (Lee and his brother, of course.)

Another visitor in this neck of the woods has been Mary Barnett, sister of Ruby Wenger. She came up for a few days from Palos Verdes - so there has been shopping - the usual gasping at what is happening to Upland and its environs - dropping-in on friends - coffee-drinking and much chit-chatting.

Had a very interesting conversation with Jo Rhodes in Bill Walton's office. In the course of it, the subject of the ringing of church bells came up. We both commented on the fact that we miss them, and then Mrs. Rhodes said, "Don't you think that if church bells were heard on Sunday mornings that it might remind more people - both young and old - of church and what Sunday is supposed to mean?"

Think about that for a moment, then see if you don't agree. We do away with so much tradition that there is only room for the mundane.

Bible Lesson On 'Matter' Set

A Bible lesson on the subject of 'Matter" will be read this Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Ontario.

Among the many Scriptural selections, will be this citation from II Corinthians (5:8): "We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord."

Other passages will bring out the Christian Science teaching that all matter is a "graven image," a temporary limited, delusive sense of things that must finally give way before the consciousness of ultimate, spiritual reality created by God.

Bank safety is more than the guard at the door.

A bank keeps your money safe—but not just by locking it up. Besides keeping large cash reserves, banks make careful investments. Banks invest in industry, in shops, in farms. They put money in auto loans, personal loans, real estate loans. It's the old principle of spreading out for safety. Edison's net income for 1962 was $60,568,937, up 11.8 per cent over the $54,183,053 recorded for 1961. Earnings per share increased 9 per cent to $1.70, as compared with $1.56 per share in 1961. Gross revenue totaled $339,600,172, a gain of 7.8 per cent over 1961's $333,816,226, Quinton said.

Edison's common stock dividend rate was increased 10.8 per cent - from 86 and 2/3 cents to 96 cents per share - during the second quarter of 1962, he noted.

The Edison chief executive officer termed 1962 "another successful year in terms of service to customers, current operating results and laying the groundwork to meet continuing growth."

Quinton said kilowatt-hour sales went up 9.6 per cent to 21.5 billion KWH. The gain of 1.9 billion KWH was a new high for sales and the second biggest annual increase on record for the company, he pointed out.

Edison's continuing emphasis on sales promotion in the field of all-electric living enabled the company to lead the nation again during 1962 in the number of Medallion contracts signed for homes and apartments, Quinton said. Contracts for 35,939 Medallion homes and apartments were signed, reflecting a 48 per cent gain in Bronze Medallion dwelling units and an 85 per cent increase in Gold (total electric) Medallion units, he reported.

The largest increase in the number of electric service meter additions since 1956 was recorded during 1962, as 74,157 new meters were installed in Edison's central and southern California service area. This compares with 67,462 meters added during the previous 12-month period, Quinton said.

Noting that the company's construction budget for 1963 is estimated at $135.8 million, as compared with $136.5 million last year, he predicted that annual construction budget requirements will remain at about the same level through 1965. Approximately $60 million of new money will be raised externally each year to help finance this continuing construction activity, he said.

Major projects now under way include construction of four additional steam-generating units, with a combined capacity of 1,250,000 kilowatts. Edison also hopes to begin work later this year on a 395,000-kilowatt nuclear electric plant at Camp Pendleton, about five miles from San Clemente, Quinton said.

Taxes, still Edison's largest single item of expense, rose 2.2 per cent last year and totaled $85.7 million, the equivalent of 23.8 cents of each dollar of revenue.

Quinton told Edison's 120,000 shareholders that "the U.S. investor-owned electric utility industry, and the excellence and extent and low cost of its electric service, are both the envy and model of the world."

"Electric utility operators from throughout the world, including the Soviet Union, have come to this country to examine intimately the many new electrical arts involving generation, transmission and distribution of electric energy which have been pioneered and developed to a high degree of perfection by American enterprise," he declared.

He warned, however, that "all of this can be lost. We can succumb to federal ownership, or federal domination of the electric utility industry and to the regression to statism which has been the principal cause of the limited progress of the electric utility systems of other nations.

"Or we can continue to develop and enlarge utility plants and facilities, and increase the scope of our electric service, as needed, under the proven method of private ownership through voluntary investment ... All the additional plants and transmission lines America needs can be financed in the free market,"

Nine Rotarians Gain New Status

Nine members of the Upland Rotary Club have 'graduated into the category of Senior Active members.

After holding Rotary membership for a number of years and actively demonstrating the club's slogan of "Service Above Self", certain members are accorded the honor of this category.

Recently honored in obtaining Senior Active status are Dan Maher, Marion Grothe, John Skewis, Bill Walton, Don Adams, Merle Rash, Bob Mickcox, Basil Harris and the newly-elected club president, Allan Barr.

At the March 20 meeting, program chairman Art Elridge will present Chaffey College Professor Edwin Klotz who will speak on "The Strength of Franco Spain."

Upland College To Share $3000 Library Grant

Upland College will share in a $3000 grant from The Fund for the Advancement of Education for the purpose of engaging a consultant on better utilization of library resources, it is announced by President John Z. Martin.

The consultant will be expected to investigate the present operation, including utilization of space and personnel, organization, administration and budget. The present collection of books at Upland College, President Martin stated, will be examined in relation to curriculum and curriculum projections, and to other resources available in the area.

In the light of these findings it is expected that the consultant will make recommendations concerning integration of both traditional and non-traditional services into planning for the library.

Following his investigation, he will also make recommendations in a report to be submitted to the president of the liberal arts college, regarding possible inter-library planning and utilization of resources in the area.

Central PTA Gives Two Life Awards

Mrs. Kathleen Rollins and Mrs. Dorthy Jaqush were the recipients of the Honorary Life Membership awards by Central School P.T.A. in Cucamonga. The presentation was made by George Beres, the school principal, at the annual Founder's Day program, Feb. 21.

Mrs. Rollins teacher for the kindergarten at Central, was cited for her interest in children and teaching beyond her duties as a teacher. Mrs. Rollins has been teaching kindergarten for nine years in the Central School District.

Mrs. Dorothy Jaqusch, mother of six children, has served as chairman on many committees in the six years with the Central School P.T.A. She was cited for her constant endeavor to uphold the high ideas of P.T.A. and her concern for the safety and welfare of children and her own family.

A skit was presented about a witch brewing her best recipe for mischief making. As the witch brewed her recipe, in a big black pot, five leprechauns appeared and danced around till they surrounded the two recipients with a vine of yellow flowers.

The five leprechauns, Central School's sixth graders, were Carol Apenas, Paula West, Ruth Vasquez, Shirley Arnold, and Linda Stone. Mrs. Jean Keys appropriately portrayed the witch.

A scroll planned and designed by Mrs. Lila Gorezyca, hospitality hostess for Central School's P.T.A. in Cucamonga is on display in the office of the school.

An original poem was written especially for Founders Day by Mrs. Jean Keys. The lettering on the scroll was accomplished by Mrs. Jane Anderson.

Others who participated in the completion of the scroll were Mr. and Mrs. W. Gardner and Cathy Anderson. The poem on the scroll and printed programs of the Founders Day meeting is as follows:

Freedom for all mankind;
therein lies our goal,
O'vision of our founders!
o'vision of the soul!
Understanding, wisdom protection for each child,
Native to their heritage -
pioneers restyled.
Designing patterns of pardnership between home and school,
Engraving future values, making love and faith a rule.
Rich our yesterday, rewarding our tomorrow!
Secure of foundation; a promise to bestow.
Daily grows our need to teach each generation,
A deeper understanding toward those of every nation,
Yielding a stronger bond of love through greater education.

Mrs. Catherine Basica's Den 1 won the Inspection Award and the Parents' Attendance Award.

Mr. Bernard Kelber, Awards Chairman, presented awards to the following boys:

Denner Stripes: Gregory Keller, Kent Colbath, and Daniel McCarthy.

Asst. Denner Stripes: Mark Pfister, Edward Rebetz and Jay Lord.

Mr. Kelber then had the audience participate in a quiz of naming the States and the Capitols on a blank map.

Miss Ellen Gadegaard led the group in additional songs.

Cubmaster, Robert Gadegaard, closed the meeting with the following statement:

"Do you know why it is that some people in the United States live in a great city, some on a farm, some by the sea, some on the desert, some in the mountains, and some in other places? It is because the people of our land can choose for themselves where they want to live and can move from one place to another whenever they want to.

"Do you know why it is that some poeple in the United States are doctors or nurses, some scientists, some airplane pilots, and some do other kinds of work? It is because in the United States the people can choose for themselves what work they want to do and can change jobs whenever they want to.

"That is the way the people who started the United States of Amerlea wanted it to be! We call this freedom and that is why we sing: 'Tis the star-spangled banner—O long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.'

The Foundation conducts the program for the purpose of recruiting future college teachers and offers Fellozships cover tuition and fees at the graduate school chosen by the winner. 1,475 college won Fellowship grants. All the winners were chosen as "good bets" for college teaching careers.

Awards by the Foundation are made posible through grants totalling $52 million from the Ford Foundation which has supported the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation since 1957.

Sea Scout Ship At Inspection

The S. S. S. Tiger Shark recently attended the council's first quarterly inspection at Claremont Headquarters. Three other ships were in attendance.

The program for the evening was put on by the United States Naval Recruiting Service, Pomona Branch. The program covered general information on what the high school graduate could expect from the various naval enlistment programs.

The Sea Scout Ship is sponsored by the Lions Club of Upland.

1962 Grand Jury Report Issued By Departments

(Editor's Note: Following is a continuation of the 1962 Report of the San Bernardino County Grand Jury as issued by departments.)

PROBATION DEPARTMENT

Stewart C. Smith, Chief Probation Officer (appointed)

Expenditures: 1960-61 - Administrative, $751,992; Juvenile Hall, $351,110; Verdemont, $116,806; Las Amigas, $59,999; Total, $1,279,907.

1961-62 - Administrative, $774,032; Juvenile Hall, $355,070; Verdemont, $113,543; Las Amigas, $60,385; Total, $1,303,030.

1962-63 - Administrative, $888,996; Juvenile Hall, $435,846; Verdemont, $165,874; Las Amigas, $64,178; Total, $1,554,894.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. Adult Division: The work furlough program should be put into effect as soon as details can be worked out by the courts, the Sheriff's Department, and the Probation Department.

Briefly, the work furlough program is a method whereby prisoners are allowed to hold their regular jobs or obtain jobs, serving their time in jail nights and on weekends. During their sentence their money is handled by the administrator of the program, with the county being reimbursed for the prisoner's care and the family - or the Welfare Department where aid is being paid - also being reimbursed.

The Probation Department is the logical agency to handle the bookkeeping since it is already set up for this procedure.

2. Juvenile Division:

A. Verdemont Ranch for Boys - This facility has a good program of activity for delinquent boys; however, this can be expanded by using many of the boys on state/county forestry projects and on county flood control works. A modified concept of the pre-war Civilian Conservation Corps in connection with the forestry and flood control agencies would be of great benefit to both the boys and the county.

B. Las Amigas Home for Girls - This home is costing the county on an average of $4,000 per girl per year, and this does not include school. (Girls from Las Amigas attend public schools.) It is very doubtful whether this facility is worth the expenditure. This is not to say that a good job is not being done, however, because of its limited capacity (15) the cost is necessarily high.

The feasibility of combining this facility with some other or cooperative effort with our adjoining County of Riverside could result in savings to both counties. We urge succeeding grand juries to review Las Amigas closely. Problem girls certainly need attention; however this Grand Jury feels that more efficient and less costly facilities could be effected.

C. High school drop-outs are a source of high delinquency. It is recommended that a joint effort be made by the schools, the trade unions, and the Juvenile Department to establish trade schools. Young adults without an education or a trade are prime candidates for crime. Trade schools would, to a large extent, prevent this waste of youth.

3. This Grand Jury is alarmed by the lenient recommendations of the Probation Department to the courts - especially where it applies to public employees convicted of misappropriation of funds.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR AND CORONER

R. E. Williams, Public Administrator and Coroner (elected)

Expenditures: 1961 - $98,506.00; 1962 - $101,621.00.

Adopted for 1963: $127,330.00

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That a storage fee be set on long-time estates.

2. That the Public Administrator's and the Chief Deputy Coroner's offices should be made into private offices because of the nature of their work.

3. That a Deputy Public Administrator be appointed to help with the added load of estates.

4. That a study be made concerning use and mileage of privately owned autos and comparative costs of county-owned vehicles.

PUBLIC DEFENDER

Charles E. Ward (appointed).

Expenditures: 1961-62 - $44,031.00; 1962-63 - $50,412.00.

This is a newly created office.

FINDINGS:

1. The staff consists of Mr. Ward, two deputies, an investigator, and a clerk.

2. The Public Defender represents indigents and those supposedly unable to pay for legal representation. The appointment of a public defender is made by order of a superior court judge and questions are asked to determine if the client is one who requires the services of this office.

3. The Municipal Court now appoints a private attorney for preliminary hearings. It might be more efficient if one attorney could represent a client from the beginning.

4. In April a request was made to the Board of Supervisors and the administrative officer that the services of Public Defender be extended to the Municipal Courts. No comment has been received from either source.

PUBLIC WORKS BUILDING AND SAFETY, GROUNDS AND PARKS MAINTENANCE AND PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

Department of Public Works - C. W. McCollough, Director.

Building and Safety - Maurice Stubbs, County Building Official.

Maintenance - Carl Haney, Superintendent of Buildings.

Property Management - Jack Wilson, Property Manager.

Grounds and Parks - Ralph Gillette, Superintendent of Grounds.

Construction Department - C. W. McCollough.

Expenditures: 1958-59 - Hdq. and Constr. $65,777.99; Bldg. and Safety, $269,065.36; Grounds and Parks, $93,351.78; Maintenance, $178,993.00; Property Management, $165,211.54.

1960-61 - Hdq. and Constr. $60,375.79; Bldg. and Safety, $305,998.27; Grounds and Parks, $126,170.16; Maintenance, $211,842.19; Property Management, $497,224.78.

1961-62 - Hdq. and Constr. $60,612.26, Bldg. and Safety, $338,541.52; Grounds and Parks, $131,975.05; Maintenance, $231,235.21; Property Management, $590,062.24.

Budget for 1962-63 - Hdq. and Constr. $53,332; Bldg. and Safety, $411,697; Grounds and Parks, $156,316; Maintenance, $304,769; Property Management, $656,887; Total $1,583,011

FINDINGS:

1. The Public Works Department has 43 jobs under construction or in process at this time. These run all the way from small repair jobs to such large jobs as the Park Moabi Marina at Needles and the 100-bed long-term care unit at the County Hospital. The latter is being accomplished principally with federal funds through the Hillburton Act.

The county made application for funds through the Hillburton Act this year for four projects, all of which were approved and will go forward immediately. Many of these jobs that are in progress now are due to Special District activity. Many of them are in the planning process now and will cause a heavier work load during 1963.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. The members of this committee interviewed building architects, engineers, and various operators interested in the operation of the Building and Safety Division. There are many complaints such as fees being too high, ineptness of handling customers in the courthouse and various branches, slowness of inspection and general attitude of the employees directed toward running the work of the contractor instead of being an inspector. A thorough study should be made by the Building and Safety Department.

2. The County Hospital maintains a complete and separate maintenance division and shops with very little coordination with the over-all county maintenance division. Some additional study should be given the thought of combining these two divisions with the idea that more work might be accomplished with fewer employees, and some efficiencies might be effected in purchasing, maintaining of inventories and payment processing.

PURCHASING DEPARTMENT

John Tillman, Purchasing Agent (appointed)

Expenditures: 1958-59 - $76,563.35; 1959-60 - $80,733.00; 1960-61 - $79,760.50; 1961-62 - $87,913.21.

Budget adopted for 1962-63, $100,252.00.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That SYSTEMS AND PROCEDURES conversion be accelerated and be coordinated with the present Friden equipment.

2. That Special Districts be asked to provide more complete descriptions of the items to be purchased. It is recommended that the Special Districts purchase emergency repair items locally to keep their equipment operating and purchase all other items through the Purchasing Department in the same manner as other county departments.

SEALER OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

H. E. Sandel (appointed)

Expenditures: 1958-59 - $54,668.72; 1959-60 - $65,037.95; 1960-61 - $65,351.81; 1961-62 - $70,716.09.

Budget adopted for 1962-63, $85,313.00.

FINDINGS:

This department has an increased work load to look forward to in the future due to checking gas and electrical meters located in trailer courts where the operator has one master meter and then charges the tenants by his own meters.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

There should be a charge made for inspection and certification. The state charges $2.00 per gasoline pump located in the state, but the county checks them and receives no money for their service. It is our recommendation that a nominal fee be charged to help defray the cost of operation of this department.

SHERIFF

Frank Bland (elected)

Expenditures: 1958-59 - $1,535,254.00; 1959-60 - $1,790,994.00; 1960-61 - $2,351,334.00; 1961-62 - $2,553,075.00.

Budget adopted for 1962-63, $2,898,303.00.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. We feel that some substations should be operated on a 24-hour basis but believe the Sheriff should decide because of work load and after-closing hour calls to deputies. Particular emphasis should be given to outlying areas because of inability to shift headquarter personnel to meet emergencies.

2. Clerks should be utilized to take dictation and type reports, thereby relieving deputies for more field work. Clerks are in a lower salary bracket and therefore could relieve deputies of untold hours of time in typing reports.

3. Control of dangerous drugs should be placed under State Narcotic Law. This requires a change in state laws, and so far this has not been one.

4. Our crime rate in regard to narcotics, that is, marijuana and opiates, has been on a variable scale for the past several years as is shown in the following comparison.

Arrests - marijuana: 1958-99; 1959-54; 1960-67; 1961-35; 1962-40.

Arrests - opiates: 1958-41; 1959-10; 1960-36; 1961-35; 1962-43.

Arrests - other drugs: 1958-9; 1959-3; 1960-5; 1961-20; 1962-19.

It must be noted, however, that there is an increase in arrests in the classification of "other drugs." This is due in a large sense to importation of "pep pills" from Mexico where they can be purchased without prescription.

5. The shortage of cars and jeeps in case of emergency in outlying areas should be eliminated.

6. We feel that more emphasis should be placed on rehabilitation of old jail facilities to improve conditions for one and two man cells, which are badly needed. Action needs to be taken so that the T-wing jail will meet state specifications for continued use. This program seems to have slowed down due to lack of cooperation between various departments of the county. Kitchen facilities should be refurnished to bring them up to a higher standard of operation.

7. We feel that a laundry should be installed at Glen Helen. This will keep confined prisoners busy rather than just sitting around doing nothing. Also, it will help to teach some of them a useful trade for the future.

8. We recommend air conditioning for the office at Glen Helen, particularly in the radio and control room. This room gets up to 110 degrees at times, and inasmuch as the building already has ducts an evaporative cooler would help. The total cost should not be more than $1,500.

9. We recommend transferring Glen Helen farm operation from the Highway Department to the Sheriff's Department. This would put all prisoners, and particularly the working prisoners, completely under one command and give better supervision and control of all. The training of guards and the handling of prisoners is the function of the Sheriff's Department. The present situation is unsatisfactory.

10. Check to see if decreased cost of operation of Sheriff cars could not be effected with the establishment of a motor pool and maintenance yard at Glen Helen farms or prison. This could also be part of a prisoner education program for rehabilitation.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Roy C. Hill (elected)

Expenditures: 1958-59 - $218,626.00; 1959-60 - $205,811.00; 1960-61 - $183,565.00; 1961-62 - $186,477.00.

Budget adopted for 1962-63, $232,195.76.00.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That the County Superintendent of Schools should continue in every way to reduce costs.

2. We suggest that school districts explore the "pay as you go" process with a tax over-ride to meet building requirement planning in place of selling building bonds. A citizens committee recommended this procedure to the Victor High School District for a five-year period with a 21c over-ride. It has the additional advantage of preserving bond ability for abnormal growth if it should occur. The voters approved this procedure, and it is working in Victorville.

3. Special elections are too numerous and costly. There are too many separate school elections. These are costly and should be consolidated. Each school district should realize this and try to remedy the situation. Marked progress is being made in some areas of the county to accomplish this.

4. Local school boards should utilize facilities and services of the superintendent's office to a greater degree.

SUPERIOR COURTS

Joseph T. Ciano, Presiding Judge, 1962.

Budget adopted for 1962-63, $382,077.00.

FINDINGS:

1. We wish to note the trend that is apparent beyond the county boundary lines and which has affected our own superior court system. This is the change from punishing for criminal activity to a policy of rehabilitation and probation. We are concerned that this has gripped our own judges.

We want to pin-point this by referring to the cases that involve public employees. It would appear that leniency is the byword, and we feel that in the case of public employees being involved in stealing and defrauding the county and the public that stiff penalties should be imposed.

ITEM: Justice court clerk, falsification of accounts - $670. Restitution ordered. Basically placed on probation.

ITEM: Superior court reporter, presenting fraudulent claim to a county officer. Probation, providing-among other things-twelve Mondays and Tuesdays in jail over twelve weeks; make restitution for nearly $20,000.

ITEM: County Tax Collector's office clerk, embezzlement of public funds - $3,339.40. Restitution order, probation granted.

ITEM: The secrecy surrounding juvenile court matters hinders the public from finding out what is going on. Secretive state laws must be changed. But the judge's decisions on juvenile matters is, in our opinion, much too lenient. The handling of youthful criminals, with repeated records of wrong-doing, would appear to need stiffening.

ITEM: The recent murder trials in the county, resulting with acquittal by juries, is considered a miscarriage of justice by the Grand Jury.

Two public employees this year did go to prison. One stole $20,000 on misappropriation of public funds and embezzlement charges; restitution is not possible if a man goes to prison, but the county is suing, attempting to secure restitution in a civil suit. In the other case, a deputy clerk in the Municipal Court was sent to prison for embezzlement of $4,484.70, of which $4,201.97 was recoveted from the bonding company.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That justice be done through our courts, that by its judgment the guilty will have the expectation of being punished and not merely of being required to make restitution, that law and order be defended more vigorously, and that public employees not receive preferential consideration.

2. That the judges work with other county personnel toward solving calendaring problems.

TAX COLLECTOR

G. Leon Gregory, Tax Collector (elected).

Expenditures: 1958-59 - $243,931.54; 1959-60 - $279,574.04; 1960-61 - $300,977.02; 1961-62 - $318,844.46.

Budget adopted for 1962-63, $347,421.00.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. We feel strongly that the cost of collecting and handling exceeds the collection of tax cases where assessed value is $100 or less.

2. We refer this office to the special area study on internal control of cash made by Diehl, Evans & Company this year.

3. We recommend to the state legislature that the laws be changed to provide an interest charge in addition to the penalty on delinquent personal property accounts.

WELFARE DEPARTMENT

Roscoe Lyda, Welfare Director (appointed).

Expenditures: 1958-59 - $18,353,977.42; 1959-60 - $19,506,187.95; 1960-61 - $21,868,523.70; 1961-62 - $27,403,553.00.

Budget adopted for 1962-63, $31,192,671.00.

FINDINGS:

1. The budget for 1962-63, totaling $31,102,671, is broken down as follows:

$1,924,925 - Administration.
$222,646 - Adoption Service.
$3,650 - Burial of Indigents.
$441,750 - County Aid.
$23,893,200 - Welfare and Security.
$4,626,500 - Welfare Medical Care.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

The public demands for bigger and more expensive welfare programs at all government levels is being reflected in the increases shown in the expenditures listed in this report when the 1958-59 expense of $18,000,000 has climbed to over an estimated $31,000,000. It appears that this has become a way of life for many of our citizens.

Many instances are suspected where families are increased just so additional welfare money can be obtained.

The federal and state codes as constituted require that the Welfare Director administer the welfare program according to the code to receive the money for local distribution. It is alarming to this Grand Jury to see the magnitude of the present welfare program.

To return to a program which provides assistance to citizens who are really down on their luck and need temporary help, it will require an awakening of the general public, which provides the money, and changes in the codes regulating welfare administration before any change can be effected.

PROVIDING the romantic interests in the Chaffey College production of "Finian's Rainbow" are Ron Shetler of Ontario and Fran Shelton of Upland. The popular Broadway Musical will be presented in the Little Theater through Saturday, March 23. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Ralph Strane, Chaffey drama instructor, and in charge of the entire production, has built with the help of students one of freshest and most uncluttered sets yet seen in the Little Theater.

Parent Education Needed To Cope With Child Molestation Problem

(Editor's Note: Following is the report of a study made by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers on the problems of child molestations. The material is printed to help keep parents fully informed of the dangers surrounding the problem. There are many reports seen frequently on the police blotters of the area relating to the subject.)

Improved parent education is needed in the approach to the problem of child molestation according to the findings in a study by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Inquiries from PTA districts in various parts of the State led to the study by a special committee of the State Board of Managers.

Sources of Information

For the answers, the committee went to the California State Departments of Health and of Mental Health; Attorney General's office, and the State District Attorneys' organization as well as to judges, school guidance personnel, and law enforcement officers. The committee's progress report follows:

What Is The Law? Is It Adequate?

Laws pertaining to sex crimes already are severe and, in the opinion of the consultants, are adequate. They require the registraion of offenders and are all-inclusive on sex offenses.

The offender is not a stranger to the child in a large percentage of the cases. He is a neighbor or some member of the child's family such as an uncle, father, or stepfather, in many cases.

Prosecution under these circumstances is particularly difficult since the family will not cooperate. Failure to report and prosecute often places the child or other children in greater danger.

Law enforcement officers often are reluctant to move quickly on the report of child molestation because of the high percentage of false accusations they encounter. It has been found frequently that children have accused a neighbor purely from spite, because he has reprimanded or spoken harshly to them. Until the truth is uncovered, however, the accused's standing in the community has suffered great damage, and he and his family have undergone much mental anguish. All cases, therefore, must be processed thoroughly and carefully by the district attorney.

Sex offenders frequently, are allowed to plead guilty to a lesser included offense where the prosecutor realizes the difficulty in securing a conviction on the crime when the only witness may be a young child who can be swayed or confused on the witness stand. This is intended as a protection to the community rather than a soft approach.

Acceptance of the lesser included plea speeds up court action, saves court expense, protects the victim from a grueling re-enactment of the crime, and prevents losing the case entirely and setting the offender free.

What Are The Medical Aspects Of The Problem?

Not all convicted sex offenders are classified as sexual psychopaths. A hearing with the court-appointed psychiatrist is held in almost all cases to determine whether sexual psychopathy exists. If it does, the prisoner is sent to Atascadero for a 90-day observation period during which it is determined whether treatment can benefit him.

Following this, recommendation is made to the court by the Atascadero authorities that either he be returned to the community, or sentenced to a correctional institution, or returned to Atascadero for an indeterminate sentence.

Parole classifications for the sexual psychopath are:

Class A - Those persons who the authorities are certain, can be completely rehabilitated. (This classification is used rarely. Estimate is approximately one in 2000 cases reviewed.)

Clas B - Those who are certified as good risks in the community. (With the tightening up of paroles, not used as much as formerly.)

Class C - Those persons who are returned to the community, even though there is a possibility that they still are a menace. Because of the heavy case load, shortage of facilities, inadequacy of staff, and back-log of patients waiting, persons often are returned to the community in order to make way for others who might be helped. These are patients for whom the authorities have decided, little more could be done by institutional care, and have been classified as calculated risks.

The C.C.P.T. committee feels that there is a real need for continued research on treatment and methods for rehabiliation, and that funds need to be provided to reduce these risks on the community.

What Per Cent Of Molestation Arrests Are Repeaters?

There is a wide range of violations in sex offenses, and a great variety in age and type of offender many of whom are one-timers. Approximately 26% are repeaters. No accurate statistics are available on the other 74% since they never repeat and are not heard from again.

There is also, a great difference in the extent of participation by the victims. Some children at seven or eight years of age can innocently contribute to the behavior of the adult, while trying to gain some desired end, though this fact does not excuse the adult's action.

Judges then, should use discretion, and wisely, in granting probation basing it on the actual qualities of each case.

Probation and Parole

The committee expressed its firm belief that acceptance of the philosophy of rehabilitation must be continued. Probation and parole are an essential part of the correctional philosophy in California.

A special program of rehabilitation is needed at every level of the community, beginning with the State institutions. Implementation of these procedures then should follow in local areas by providing well-trained probation officers with case loads which will permit them to do constructive follow-up. Too often, case loads run as high as 250 per worker, whereas studies have shown greatly increased results when the load is reduced to 50 or 75 cases.

Parole should be based on the best possible evaluation of the offender in terms of the extent of his rehabilitation. Careful investigation is necessary to determine how he, and the community, can be protected best.

Because probation services are known to be unequal throughout the State, the committee recommends that Parent-Teacher districts undertake a study to determine the procedures in their own areas evaluating each community in regard to gaps in services and enforcement of present laws.

PTA Concerns

What do we tell children to make them cautious yet not frighten them? What can parents and/or the community do to protect children and prevent these crimes?

"The primary problem of sex offenses is the responsibility of the family as a unit", claimed one consultant as the need for improved parent education was stressed by all. This means closer cooperation between parents and children, truthful explanation of the dangers involved, and closer supervision of children and young people in varying degrees during their leisure time.

Believing that Parent-Teacher associations can be especially helpful here, the committee presently is considering ways in which they may assist best.

Chairman of the committee is Mrs. E. M. Findlay of Long Beach; other members are Mrs. G. D. Edwards of San Diego, Mrs. Robley Berry of Berkeley, Mrs. Malcolm H. Finley of San Rafael, Mrs. Don McWilliams of Visalia, Mrs. Jeanada Nolan of Sacramento, Mrs. Russell Northcutt of Garden Grove, Mrs. H. W. Pieper of Los Angeles, and Mrs. J. H. Richards of Porterville.

Bank To Increase Common Stock; Will Change Name

Ralph V. Arnold, President of The First National Bank of Ontario, reported that at a special meeting of the stockholders of The First National Bank of Ontario the stockholders voted to increase the common stock of the bank by the sale of 27,600 shares of $5.00 par value stock at $25 per share.

This would increase the common stock of the bank from $500,000. to $638,000, and the surplus account from $500,000. to $1,040,000.

An additional 3,000 shares of common stock were authorized to be held unissued for a Stock Option Plan to be offered to key officers of the bank; the Plan to be subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, the Stockholders and the Comptroller of the Currency.

Arnold commented that The First National Bank of Ontario is the first national bank on the Pacific Coast to apply to the Comptroller for permission to establish a Stock Option Plan.

The Stockholders also voted to change the name of the bank from The First National Bank of Ontario, to First National Bank and Trust Company, subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency. This change is considered necessary by management, in view of the fact that the bank is now operating branches in four cities and will soon be operating branches in five.

Arnold, in a report to the stockholders, stated that the bank had been experiencing unusual growth, having had a 21.2%, or $5,451,781 increase in deposits in 1962, making total deposits at the end of the year well in excess of $3,000,000. Loans increased to a new high of $17,665,145, and total resources increased from $28,439,144, to $34,506,188.

Net operating profits, before income taxes and after transfer to reserves, amounted to $360,056, against $286,307 in 1961. Net earnings per share in 1962 were $1.69, as compared to $1.28 per share in 1961, based on 100,000 outstanding shares. He also reported that the Bank's Trust Department income increased 61% during 1962, and the Department now has assets in excess of $6,000,000.

Arnold commented on projected growth to 1970, when deposits are anticipated to reach $72,000,000, based on the average growth of the bank from 1953 to 1961. Arnold told the stockholders that deposit growth is taking place far in excess of proportionate growth of capital funds from earnings.

He stated that the stock issue would not only allow the bank to grow and expand, but that it would also increase earning ability. He stated that the stock has always been very closely held and that he deemed it in the bank's best interest to widen the ownership.

He expressed the hope that stockholders of record would not exercise their rights, and would permit the bank to spread the stock among people in the bank's trade area. He said that stockholders owning 45% of the bank's stock had already agreed to waive their rights to purchase new stock, and to permit the bank to sell this stock to local people.

Arnold, at the close of his report, stated that it is the intent of the Bank's management, that the facilities of the bank shall keep pace with the growth of this part of San Bernardino County. He reported that the bank will open three new banking offices this year, and is enlarging the Chino Office.

Boy Scouting Goes Outdoors For Spring

Outdoor activities are in the planning stage for the spring months by 6878 members of the Old Baldy Council, Boy Scouts of America, Bud Girard, council commissioner, announced.

Fitness activities will be highlighted in the special events suggested for Boy Scouts who are 11 years of age and older.

A "proof of spring" camp in March featured tracking, trailing, stalking, and observation.

A "canvas carnival" in April will test camping equipment, including homemade tents, packs, ground clothes, and sleeping bag covers. Scouting skills will provide the basis for camporee contests in March.

Highlighting March Boy Scouting activities was the Spring Council Camporal, March 16-17 at Camp Pendleton. Over 1500 Boy Scouts and leaders are expected.

Cub Scouts, eight, nine, and ten-year-old boys, will also head for the outdoors during the spring months.

"Pride in country" will be stimulated by the March theme, "Around the U.S.A." as they are encouraged to feel a personal responsibility to keep the country beautiful.

The April theme, "Up, Above, and Underneath," will give an opportunity for trips related to air, earth, and water. "Circus Day" in May will feature "the biggest little show on earth" for each Cub Scout pack, and most of the circuses will be held outdoors.

The council's annual Scout-O-Rama will be held at the Los Angeles County Fair on Saturday, May 11.

Explorers, high-school-age boys, will be making final plans this spring for their "superactivities," trips or expeditions of five days or more. Other highlights for Explorer posts will be the third session of the "Ready" program for emergency service, plans for a regional delegate conference to be held June 28, 29, 30 at the University of California at Davis, California, elections of officers, and the national owling tournament.

Cub and Scout leaders roundtables to be held throughout the council during March will feature theme ideas for April as outlined above.

GD Employees Teach Classes At Colleges

A total of 31 General Dynamics/Pomona men will serve on the faculties of the evening college division of six local colleges during the spring semester.

The largest contingent (22) will be on the staff of Mt. San Antonio College in Walnut. Two men will teach at Chaffey Jr. College, Alta Loma, and one each at Citrus College, Azusa; Claremont Men's College, Claremont; and Whittier College, Whittier. The UCLA Extension Division Orange Belt graduate program in engineering will have four General Dynamics/Pomona instructors.

Mr. Sac instructors and their courses include, Orlen Jensen, 9772 Coalinga Avenue, Montclair, publications art, Airbrush Techniques; Ralph Longfellow, 600 West Azure Court, Upland, microwave engineer, Industrial Electronics and Microwave Electronics; and Kenneth Ziebarth, 10173 Camarena Avenue, Montclair, contract representative, Law for Laymen.

J. C. Farris, 2219 Titus Avenue, Pomona, special courses instructor, and Edward Weed, 220 E. 6th Street, Ontario, materials and processes, will teach courses at Chaffey Jr. College. Farris will instruct in transistors and Weed will conduct at class in Organization and Management for Supervisors.

Beauty Hints

by JACK WALD

On March 10 we attended the Beauty Show at the Paladium in Hollywood. It was interesting to note that spring was much in evidence. Not only on the models being shown, but also on the hairdressers and the public that attended. The clothes as well as the make-up and hair colors were much lighter and more alive.

Each year with the coming of spring the shades of makeup go lighter as well as the eye shadow and lipstick. In many cases the colors were the same but lighter shades were used. This will be the tendency for the next few months.

In coloring the hair either a lighter shade was used or a little lightner was put in the same shade. In some cases additional peroxide was added to the tint to give the color less depth. If you are interested in a personalized formula for spring, stop by the Ontario Beauty College any time before 10 p.m. Mon. thru Fri.

In next week's column we will go in to hair coloring a little deeper. Until then if you have any questions do call or stop by.

For further information about your complexion or hair, stop and see me personally at the Ontario Beauty College, at 115 N. Lemon Street opposite the Orange Hotel) for a consultation. There is absolutely no charge or obligation for this service. We are open from 8:30 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday, and 8:30 until 5:00 on Saturday. YUkon 4-2546.

A SURE SIGN of Spring and the baseball season is the installation of signs on the outfield fence of the Memorial Park diamond. Max Hawkins is shown putting the finishing touches to the annual job. Thirty-seven signs are now on the fence and the Memorial Park Improvement Association look forward to selling another 10 or 12 this year to help pay for the new dugouts at the park. Labor for the dugouts was voluntary, but money is needed for the materials. The volunteers built the fence last year and repainted it this year. Signs cost $50 for the first year and $20 each renewal year.

Southland Communities In Orange Show Exhibit

Twenty five Southland communities, civic organizations, festival and fairs will be represented with golden feature exhibits and compete for nearly $14,000 in cash awards at the forty-eighth annual National Orange Show which opened in San Bernardino March 14, for a run of 11 thrill-packed days.

In addition, but not competing for the awards, will be glittering displays by the City of San Bernardino honoring the space technology industry; the County of Los Angeles through the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the Needles Chamber of Commerce promoting the Parker Dam Recreational District.

The golden feature exhibits have long been one of the main points of interest for the thousands of visitors who throng the National Orange Show grounds. They are constructed with hundreds of thousands of oranges, other citrus fruits and other structural materials.

Many of them are designed around the show's 1963 theme, "Citrus Magic" which gives designers a wide latitude to create novel and entertaining exhibits. Once completed the golden exhibits transform the Feature Exhibits building into a huge hall of golden hues.

In addition to the glittering exhibits, an "Island of Citrus," 100 feet long, will run down the center of the Feature Exhibits building with citrus fruits from all sections of the citrus belts in the state.

Feature exhibitors for the 1963 National Orange Show will include: Cucamonga District Lions Club with "Rocketing Oranges to the Moon;" and Montclair Chamber of Commerce with "Fantasy in Citrus."

Kite Safety Rules Comic Booklet Out

"Don't fly kites over moose antlers," is one bit of advice offered by Bullwinkle and Rocky, popular television cartoon characters who have joined Reddy Kilowatt this year per kite safety rules.

The TV stars and Reddy offer lots of advice and kite-building tips for young enthusiasts in a free booklet now being distributed throughout southern and central California by Southern California Edison Company.

More than half a million copies of "Rocky and Bullwinkle Kite Fun Book" are being given to children in schools and communities served by the electric company, Dave Martin, Edison Montclair manager, said today.

In an entertaining, comic-book fashion, Rocky directs Bullwinkle around the obstacles to proper kite flying and shows how to build a variety of kites in all shapes and sizes.

The one unforeseen problem which Rocky overlooks is Bullwinkle's antlers leading to the booklet's humorous conclusion.

Suggestions offered by Rocky include building the kite of wood and paper, not with tinsel, wire or metal. He also points out that kites should be flown in open fields, away from roads, from telephone and power lines and television and radio antennas.

Children are urged not to fly their kites in wet weather, and if they are snagged on a wire or utility pole, to let go of the string immediately and not try to pull the kite down.

Dr. Edwin Klotz Discusses "Republican Liberals" With Community GOP Women

A liberal by any other name is still a liberal, even one who calls himself a Republican, was the theme of a message by Dr. Edwin Klotz, Spanish Language Professor of Chaffey College, when he addressed members of the Chaffey Community Republican Women March 13.

Dr. Klotz defined the terms of his subject, "Republican Liberals" as follows: "A Republican is not the sterotyped dapper welldressed gentleman stepping out of his chauffeur-drawn cadillac and flicking an ash from an expensive cigar on a street urchin". A republican is "anyone who registers as a Republican". This embraces a wide range of differing ideas from Garry Goldwater to Harry Bridges, both registered Republicans.

Dr. Klotz defined a liberal as "one who consistantly presses for a larger and more powerful central government and for one-world government".

Dr. Klotz urged the group to consider carefully the philosophy of Republican Candidates before casting a vote for them. Republicans such as Jacob Javits of New York, Robert McNamara, who advocates unilateral disarmament, Douglas Dillon, who advocated irresponsible fiscal policies, are liberals and as such are exactly the opposite of the liberals in the early life of our republic.

Then liberals favored the limiting of the authority of the central government. Dr. Klotz added, "those who push for more centralized government and one-world government should pause to consider that a one-world government today or any time in the near future would be cominated by the Communists."

Dr. Klotz recommended sev-eral books for thoughtful readers. "The California Dynasty of Communism" by Karl Prussian, "The Fourth Floor" by Earl T. Smith, former ambassador to Cuba (a Democrat) and "For the Skeptic" by Lyle H. Munson.

Further he recommended the "National Review" edited by William Buckley as an excellent source magazine of the conservative viewpoint.

During a question and an-swer period following the talk, one member asked what Dr. Klotz though of Robert Welch being barred from the campus of San Diego State. Dr. Klotz replied that the wording of the rejection was a "typical smear-technique, coupling the name of Welch with that of Lincoln Rockwell, the bund leader, as though the two were similar.

Welch's philosophy of individual responsibility is the direct opposite of Dictatorship and Nazism, said Dr. Klotz.

Another member asked his views on Romulo Betancourt, recent visitor to the United States. Dr. Klotz declared that Betancourt has always been a communist, that he wants communism for Venezuela, but perhaps he wants to run it himself rather than be directed from Moscow.

Following the program, Mrs. J. B. McCarter, president, conducted a short business meeting. She thanked Mrs. E. J. Close Jr. for arranging the luncheon and introduced her new officers and committee chairmen as follows:

Mrs. Joseph Visnak, First Vice-President; Mrs. Frank Wachs, Second Vice-President; Mrs. Marguerite Johnson, Recording Secretary; Mrs. R. N. Smith, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Beatrice Gass, Treasurer; Mrs. William Graber, Parliamentarian; Mrs. Fred Price, Americanism; Mrs. Herman Wesp, Auditor; Mrs. Howard Breeding, chaplain; Mrs. J. R. McRill, Courtesy; Mrs. Paul Cushing, Education; Mrs. E. J. Close Jr., Hospitality; Mrs. George R. Wallin, Legislation; Mrs. Earl Riggs, Membership; Mrs. La von Phillips, New Citizen; Mrs. John Plasman, Press; Mrs. A. J. Pratt, Program; Miss Grace Siemon, Telephone, and Mrs. William Schultze, Ways and Means.

Mrs. Riggs invited everyone to come to the Membership Tea on March 27 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. C. E. McCauley, 7874 Buena Vista, Red Hill.

Mrs. Wallin gave a report on legislation and recommended that members write to state senators and Jack Shrady to oppose the reappointment of Thomas Braden to the State School Board as his views are in direct contradiction to those of Max Rafferty, newly elected State Superintendent.

Mrs. McCarter announced that Chaffey Community Republican Women are sponsoring a "Meet your Candidates" meeting for high school board candidates on March 27 at 8 p.m. in the Ontario Library. All candidates have accepted.

The president also announ-ced that the San Bernardino County Republican Women would meet in the west end again this month at the Holiday Inn, March 22. The group wish to hear John Tower, Governor of Texas, who is speaking in Bridges Auditorium in Claremont at 11 a.m. following their board meeting.

Following the luncheon at noon, Edgar W. Heistand, former Congressman, will address the group.

New College Established

Articles of Incorporation for the establishment of a women's college as the sixth college at Claremont have been filed with the Secretary of State, Sacramento, Dr. William W. Clary, acting president of Claremont Graduate School and University Center, has announced.

To be called Pitzer College in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Russell K. Pitzer of Pomona, the new institution will operate within the liberal arts framework of the five already existing independent Claremont Colleges.

The curriculum of the new college will be liberal arts. The majors in humanities, social sciences, and science, are designed to prepare young women for later professional education, and to aid them in their roles for responsible family and community life, Dr. Clary said.

Pitzer College will occupy a 20-acre campus on Mills Avenue directly east of Scripps College. There, on a site already surveyed, the Claremont architectural firm of Criley & McDowell is designing two buildings to be constructed for occupancy in the fall of 1964. One is a dormitory housing 200 girls, the other an academic and administration building.

In its initial stages, the new college will be aided by the resources of all the institutions which make up The Claremont Colleges: Claremont Graduate School and University Center (1925), Claremont Men's College (1946), Harvey Mudd College (1955), Pomona College 1887), and Scripps College (1926).

As a full fledged member of the group it will have access from the outset to all facilities and services shared on a joint basis. In addition, the older institutions will cooperate with the new college on an individual basis. Admissions, for example, will be handled by the joint admission office of Claremont Men's College and Harvey Mudd College.

Students at the new college will initially make use of the dining facilities provided by Wilbur Hall, Scripps College.

Initial enrollment at Pitzer College is expected to be about 100 girls, Dr. Clary said. It is expected that the ultimate enrollment will comprise a student body of about 600.

Among those appointed to the board is George H. Whitney, Upland, attorney with the Los Angeles firm of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher.

Pitzer College will open its doors to its first class in Sept., 1964. Between the present date and then, the founding trustees will be engaged in the initial stages of campus construction, in recruiting a facity and staff, and in accepting qualified students, Dr. Clary said.

Senior Citizens Fight Pending

Speakers of the California League of Senior Citizens will rally pensioners and their friends in this area to fight legislation now pending in the State Legislature which would lower their monthly benefits and impose harsher eligibility requirements at a meeting of the Upland C.L.S.C. Club, at Four Square Community Church, 205 So. Campus Ave., Upland, at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, March 26.

At the same time a report will be given on the progress of the Old Folks Lobby in Sacramento and Washington, D. C., where George McLain and his legislative assistant, James Evans, are working for an increase in the basic food and rent budget of State Old Age Pensioners and for a 20 per cent across-the-board hike in Social Security payments.

Kuchel Set For Mexican Conference

U. S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the Assistant Republican Leader, has been named one of the United States delegates to the third interparliamentary conference with legislators of the Republic of Mexico.

Kuchel, the Senior California Senator, will join eleven colleagues for a week of discussions of numerous mutual problems in which both countries are interested and of reviewing hemispheric situations, such as the continuing threat of Castroism.

The meetings will be held at Guanajuato, capital of the state by the same name in the interior of Mexico, north of Mexico City.

Participating for the second successive year in the U. S.-Mexican talks, Kuchel is carrying on a tradition of deep concern about relations between the neighboring countries.

He has been interested in solving a number of regional difficulties, such as water supplies and sewage disposal along the California-Baja California border, and narcotics traffic controls, likely to be on the conference agenda.

The California Senator was one of the original advocates of the custom of the annual conversations so that lawmakers from each of the North American republics might explore possibilities of harmonizing legislative efforts for better relations and continenress.

Kuchel cosponsored the refavorably in the 86th Consolution providing for such meetings which was reported tal progress.

County School Office Sets New Budget

The County Board of Education approved yesterday the budgets of the County Superintendent of Schools office which are now subject to review by either the County Board of Supervisors or the State Department of Education.

The budget for the county service fund, which is subject to review by and is distributed from Sacramento, was approved for $770,388. This contrasts with $818,000 which was approved last year.

The county general fund, which is subject to review by the County Board of Supervisors, was approved for $170,-885. Last year's board approval was for a budget of $157,-523. The increase here is due largely to the addition of students at Juvenile Hall, Verdemont Ranch, and Wesley Hall Annex in Redlands, and anticipated costs for school district unification elections.

The service fund of the county schools office is used to cover the costs of instructional services, and the salaries of professional and clerical staff working in the area of instruction. Due to a deficit of funds at the state level, this budget was trimmed some 12 per cent last year.

The general fund covers costs in the area of business functions, and the salaries of clerical staff.

The budgets requested by County Supt. of Schools Roy C. Hill, and approved by the board, are below the formula used by the state in apportioning funds to the 58 county schools offices. Hill's service fund request is also below that approved last year by the board.

The board also approved the granting of provisional secondary teaching credential for Ralph C. Krueger of the Chino Unified School District.

Regarding sabbatical leaves for credentialed employees, the board heard a proposed plan by Supt. Hill which would grant one year's leaves of absence without pay for educational purposes, on condition that both the county superintendent and the board approved the purpose of the leave and were convinced of the employee's intention to return. The board will take final action on the proposal at its next meeting.

A plan to change board policy and allow local districts to choose their own maps and globes was also approved. The staff of the county schools office will continue to prepare a recommended list, but only for information purposes.

Mrs. Lois Tarkanian, county schools coordinator of speech and hearing services, presented a report dealing with the speech and hearing services being offered to districts within the county. She reported that during the last two years practically every school district in the county has received some assistance in the speech area from the county schools office.

Her presentation also included information about the complexity of speech - over 100 muscles must move in order to utter one word - and the problems faced by individuals with speech handicaps who are often forced to take the most menial jobs because of their inability to communicate and meet the public.

The county schools office offers in-service training to county speech therapists, and also keeps them up-to-date on advances in the speech and hearing field.

Motor Vehicle Fees Exceed $233 Million

Collections received from California drivers' payments of motor vehicle license fees, registration and operator's license fees and related revenues have topped $233.6 million, State Treasurer Bert A. Betts reported. It is a gain of aout 11 percent over last year's.

As the official depository for such collections, the State Treasurer's Office invests these monies from the time of receipt until they are expended. During the current collection period these investments earned about $82 per day on each million dollars invested.

The total of $233.6 million, collected from last December 1 through February 15, Betts said, is $22.7 million higher than that of a year ago. More than $153 million was collec'ed during the month of January, exceeding by $33 million the total in January 1962.

Motor vehicle license fees are those based on 2 percent of the market value of vehicles as determined by the State Department of Motor Vehicles. They make up the Motor Vehicle License Fee Fund, and were initiated in lieu of city and county taxation of motor vehicles as personal property.

The Motor Vehicle Fund, on the other hand, is drawn from such sources as registration, weight, transfer, driver's license and caravan fees, interest from the Surplus Money Investment Fund and transfers of appropriations from the Motor Vehicle License Fee Fund for the use of the Department.

Highway Tax Distributed

The January split of highway users taxes among the State, cities and counties amounted to $33,213,419, State Controller Alan Cranston reported.

San Bernardino County's share was $302,329.34 Cranston said.

Here is how the total was apportioned.

$21,728,025 to the State Highway Fund for expenditures on highways.

$8,259,187 to the counties.

$3,226,207 to the State Highway Fund for cities.

The total monthly distribution was $1,462,257, or 4.6 per cent more than for the same month a year ago.

It was comprised of $30,-971,589 from the gasoline tax, $1,260,650 from the diesel fuel tax, $989,967 from the Motor Vehicle Transportation Tax Fund and the balance from miscellaneous sources.

Marines Offer Special Plan To HS Seniors

Sgt. Ed. Curcio, local Marine Corps Recruiter, announced that senior high school students who are interested in joining the Marines after high school graduation this June, may enlist now in the 120-day delayed enlistment program.

He will be enlisted in the reserves, but will not attend meeting or drills. The time spent in the reserves counts for pay purposes once enlisted, and toward the total military obligation.

High School seniors that intend to go on active duty during June and July can join the 120-day delayed enlistment program during February and March.

The recruiting office is located at the Post Office building in Ontario.

Evening School Library Hours To Start Soon

Because of demand for library services by students of the Chaffey High School District, the administration has recommended that school libraries be opened for high school use between 7 and 9 p.m.

Trustees approved on a trial basis that Upland High library be open Wednesday and Thursday, Montclair High library Monday and Tuesday and Chaffey High library Monday through Thursday.

It was estimated that the additional cost of this service would be approximately $1,300 to $1,500 for the balance of the school year.

The date for the beginning of the evening schedule has not been announced, but the administration plans to start the trial evening hours at the earliest possible date.

Ontario Bank Is 916th Largest

The First National Bank of Ontario is now the 916th largest bank in the nation, compared to the 15,000 banks in the United States, according to a report released by Ralph V. Arnold, President.

As a result of figures released by the American Banker, a daily banking newspaper, The First National gained 91 places in national ranking, from 1007th larges bank in 1961 to the 916th largest bank in 1962.

This ranking is based upon a comparison of the bank's deposits at the close of business December 31, 1962, compared to the deposits of the 15,000 banks in the United States.

The result of this comparison shows the bank to be in the top 7% of the nation's banks.

Mr. Arnold, in commenting on the above figures, stated that this is the highest position the bank has held in its 75 year history.

Social Security Advice May Prove To Be Costly

Relying on a well-meaning neighbor's advice about social security benefits may prove to be costly if the neighbor is unaware of the most recent amendments to the social security law.

Hugh B. Chapman, social security district manager in Pomona, cited the case of an 81-year-old California rancher, William Washburn, of Bakersfield.

The information Mr. Washburn got from a friend cost him several thousand dollars. He did not apply for his social security benefits until the fall of 1962, but he could have begun receiving monthly social security checks in April, Mr. Chapman said.

Since benefits may be paid for no more than 12 months back, the elderly rancher lost 5 years of payments.

The district manager pointed out that several hundred proposed changes to the social security law are introduced into Congress each session. While only a small number of these proposals become law, those that do may materially affect benefit rights.

Such things as the amount of covered work a person needs to be eligible for benefits (less now than it used to be) or the amount of money a person can earn while continuing to collect some benefits (more now than it used to be) are affected by the amendments.

Neighbors may try to save a person a trip to the local social security office by giving advice on retirement benefits, disability payments or cash benefits to surviving widows and children of a deceased wage-earner, but the only way to make absolutely sure that the information is up-to-date is to call or visit the office, Mr. Chapman said.

Many hundreds of dollars have been lost by persons unaware that those 72 years of age or older can earn as much money as they wish and still draw all of their social security monthly checks.

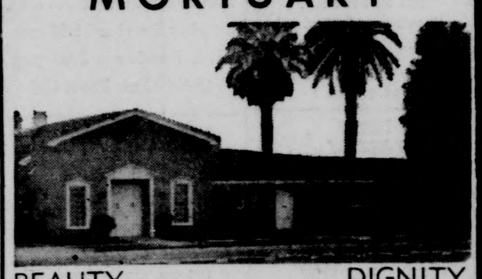

Surveys have also shown that very few persons are aware that social security disability benefits may be paid to a man or woman at any age with sufficient social security coverage provided that they are unable, because of their illness or disability, to do any substantial work.

Mr. Chapman urged all residents, not to rely on advice that may have become outdated through legislative changes. The only sure way, he said, is to write, telephone, or visit the district office at 445 East Holt Avenue, Pomona.

Dedicated To Building A Bigger And Better Community In Which To Work, Live And Relax

AN EDITORIAL

Just a Minute

There is an organization being formed in this valley called the Pomona-Ontario Valley Economic Development Council, and before any city or Chamber of Commerce puts any money into it, it would be well for everyone concerned to carefully read the by-laws and examine the need for such an organization.

Frankly, it's doubtful if there is any need for any such organization, and if it gets off the ground, the P-OVEDC could do most of the cities more harm than good.

The "head" city of the organization is in Los Angeles County, but plans are to straddle the county line to include Upland, Montclair, Ontario and Chino.

The San Bernardino County Board of Trade is geared to assist cities of our county in promoting and developing areas for industry. Work in this direction is constant and indications are that it is adequate in cooperation with local Chambers and industrial committees.

POVEDC is an idea that came out of a Pomona Chamber of Commerce Committee, which on the surface looks like a great thing. Everyone is for greater industrial development carried on in an orderly manner, including this newspaper, and every other one in the valley. So are all cities and all Chambers of Commerce.

And there's nothing wrong with honest cooperative effort.

No program of work has been laid out, so no one really knows what POVEDC will do, or can do. However, a tentative budget of $52,500 for the first year was discussed at a Monday morning meeting.

The bulk of this money is supposed to come from the cities involved, a further drain on the taxpayers. The breakdown reveals "contributions" as follows: Pomona, $12,810; Upland, $3,740; Montclair, $3,465; Chino, $4,177; Ontario, $8,255; Claremont, $2,420; San Dimas, $1,265; LaVerne, $1,140; and Walnut, $228.

The balance is supposed to be provided by all the Chambers as a group, $5,000, and the member colleges, commercial establishments and industrial firms to the tune of $10,000.

There has been some talk about a "paid" president drawing a salary of about $15,000.

To date all that is known about what the POVEDC might do are included in six purposes in Article II of the by-laws, and it's a beautiful collection of words. Following are the purposes:

"Section 1 — To foster the orderly growth of the nine cities comprising the Pomona-Ontario Valley and the unincorporated areas of the Valley.

"Section 2 — To research, study, and publish reports on the economic assets, history, population, market, labor, transportation, taxes, education, housing, and government of the Pomona-Ontario Valley.

Section 3 — To promote the growth of existing industry and commerce and the establishment of new industry and commerce in the Pomona-Ontario Valley.

Section 4 — To assist the nine city planning commissions in their planning for economic growth in order that the maximum and best utilization of property in the valley can be realized.

Section 5 — To enlist, encourage, and promote cooperation among government and business with respect to matters affecting economic activity.

Section 6 — To perform any other activity which would benefit the geographic area encompassed by the Pomona-Ontario Valley Economic Development Council.

Sounds good, but what do those words really mean?

If the POVEDC does all those things, that supra-Chamber of Commerce will cut the ground out from under the Chambers of the nine communities involved—Pomona, Ontario, Upland, Montclair, Chino, Claremont, LaVerne, San Dimas and Walnut.

The POVEDC would reduce all those city's Chambers to retail trade promotion groups. The supra-Chamber would take over.

If the POVEDC gets off the ground, it would assess cities on the basis of population, and Chambers on the basis of membership revenue.

Good way to kill a Chamber. Formation in the POVEDC would give industrial concerns reasons for joining the POVEDC maybe, but they would have little reason to join local chambers, and thus the POVEDC would be cutting the revenues of local Chambers and cutting one of its own sources of funds as it reduces the Chambers to retailers' organizations.

And according to Section 4, the POVEDC would be sticking its nose into the affairs of local cities. Promoters of the unofficial octupus that looks like another government bureau will protest that such is not the intent. Intent or not, that intervention is a logical assumption.

And in Section 6, what is included in "any other activity"?

When the first big dinner meeting of the POVEDC was called mayors, Chamber presidents, some college men and a few individuals were invited, but no Chamber managers.

Why? The managers are the ones responsible for carrying out the work of Chambers, the policies and projects determined by the boards of directors.

Also missing were city managers or administrators, who are also intimately involved in the affairs of cities.

The by-laws of POVEDC raise some questions. Why is the general manager also the president? Unusual set-up to say the least.

We were informed by an authoritative source that the by-laws were the work of one Tom DeMott, industrial director of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce, and a man who has been mentioned as available for the job of President of the organization.

A promoter of the POVEDC denied it, said the by-laws were a compilation from a similar council in Massachusettes and another in the South.

Regardless of that, the by-laws are written so as to set up a nice cushy job for someone. Despite a statement that maybe a full-time President would not be hired, the President, according to the by-laws would be in charge of all employees, pay some disbursements out of petty cash, call committee meetings. We'll bet a full-time manager is the intent of the people pushing this thing, and a real plum it will be for someone.

There are a host of other questions raised by this proposed bureau.

One is this. The idea came out of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce. In the foreseeable future, Pomona will run out of industrial land. The Pomona Chamber is doing all possible to promote the development of a certain industrial park, not in Montclair, not in Upland, not in Ontario, not in Chino, not in Claremont, not in LaVerne, not in San Dimas and not in Diamond Bar. It's in Pomona. The Pomona Chamber Board has endorsed the POVDEC idea.

There's an argument advanced from over that way that any plant located in the valley is good for any city. Hogwash. Yes, employees of big Pomona plants live in cities other than Pomona. The other cities furnish bedrooms, pay for the education of those people's children and Pomona collects the taxes from industrial plants. The other cities furnish streets, sewers, police and fire protection, and Pomona collects the revenue.

Perhaps the fact that Pomona will soon run out of industrial land is the reason why the name of the Pomona Chamber's industrial director is being boomed as executive officer for POVEDC. When industrial land disappears, so does his job.

But, if this government bureau type organization does get formed, the man chosen to be the President and chief executive officer should be a man acceptable to, and who can work with Chamber managers, industrial realtors, and others concerned with industrial development.

We submit that no such council is necessary. We say it is the equivalent of a government bureau whose aim is the same. We might as well invite Washington into local affairs as the POVEDC, and that would be an invitation to suicide.

Local Chambers of Commerce and cities can and are doing the job, better in some cases than in others, of course. If any cooperative action is desirable, and no one has shown that it really is or is really necessary, then the cities and Chamber agencies should be the ones to cooperate.

All local governments and Chambers of Commerce are too short of funds to pour money into the POVEDC rathole.

No supra-Chamber is needed, especially one that will be detrimental to local Chambers and which will be an interferring finger in the local pie.

As we suggested, every Chamber and every City involved should study the situation carefully, and then blast the POVEDC out of the water before it's launched.

TRADITION-LOVING Lexington, Missouri, is proud of its Madonna of the Trail monument situated on the bank of the Missouri River at the west edge of the city. It is surrounded by huge shade trees and lawn, symbolic of the simple but rugged life of the Pioneer Mothers. This monument, an exact duplicate of Upland's statue, is the 7th along the National Old Trails Road. Twelve such memorials to the women of pioneer America were erected across the country by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Memo

To: The Congress
From: John Q. Taxpayer
Subject: The Budget

I respectfully submit that in all the furor over the tremendous size of the budget for fiscal 1964 one very important factor is not being given the serious attention it deserves.

I refer to the fact that, in the last analysis, the federal government cannot spend money not authorized by Congress so long as the latter is also alert to attempts at "backdoor" spending.

Thus the Congress shares with the Administration the responsibility for the size of the final budget. It seems to me, therefore, that the Congress should really invoke its power this year and cut the budget down to reasonable proportions. By so doing it will perform a public service of great magnitude.

School District Taxes In County Up $5 Million

School district taxes increased $5,234,955 in San Bernardino county during the past year according to a study just released by California Taxpayers' Association.

Levies of school districts in the county were raised to $47,782,949 for support of the schools during the current 1962-63 fiscal year. This is 12.3 percent above the $42,547,994 levy for the preceding school year 1961-62.

Throughout the State, school districts increased the school property tax bill by $103,622,601, or 8.4 percent, the Taxpayers' Association study shows. The huge sum of $1,330,825,759 was the total of school property tax bills in California in 1962-63 as compared to $1,227,203,158 in 1961-62.

The largest increase for the last two fiscal years in school district property taxes occurred in Los Angeles County where school tax bills jumped $29,657,546.

Los Angeles was followed in the list of increases by Orange County with $8,104,074, Santa Clara $6,838,465, San Diego $5,707,809, San Bernardino $5,234,955, Alameda $4,959,566 and San Mateo with $4,763,836.

Among the counties in which the total tax bill exceeded $5,000,000 during 1962-63, the greatest percentage increase was in Stanislaus County in which the school levies were jumped by 20.2 percent. Close behind came Marin with 20 percent, followed by San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara with 16.5 percent each, Yolo 15 percent, Orange and Santa Cruz with 13.6 percent each, San Bernardino 12.3 percent, San Francisco 12.1 percent, Riverside 11 percent, San Mateo 10.6 percent, Butte 10.5 percent, Merced 10.3 percent, Santa Clara 10.2 percent, and Ventura 10.1 percent.

"With school budget season just around the corner, taxpayers should make their plans to take part in the making of school budgets for next year," commented Sheffield J. Arnold, Executive Director of California Taxpayer's Association. "Ben Franklin taught a penny saved is a penny earned. We should ask our school people to try economy as a revenue before they raise taxes higher."

Foothill Council Holds Annual Awards Dinner

By Mrs. A. T. Arbezzi

The second annual Honorary Life Awards dinner sponsored by Foothill Council Parent-Teacher Association was held recently at the Upland Women's Club.

Mrs. George Kirkland, president of Council, introduced the following past presidents and their husbands to the association: Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Van Ornam, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Scarbourough, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Breeding and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Stremmell.

Introductions were also made of unit presidents, 1963 unit recipients and superintendents of schools.

The theme "South American" was reflected in the beautifully decorated tables and name tags.

Mrs. Allen Palmer, M.C., presented the Highlanders Dance Band under the direction of Mr. Albert Warren who entertained the assembled with their fine dance music in South American rythum.

Instead of "Sing Along With Mitch" the group sang along with Mr. Burt Jackson. Miss Millie Voss and Mr. Bob Stiles entertained with their charming folk songs accompanied by guitar.

Mrs. Daniel Remeta, director of the Upland-Cucamonga Mothersingers, who are in great demand by many unit P.T.A. groups with their lovely voices, entertained. Several appropriate selections also keeping the South American theme in mind were the Mothersingers from Alta Loma under the direction of Mrs. Robert Murray.

Mrs. Ted Uber, Honorary Life Membership and Founders Day Council chairman, presented Mr. Herbert C. Hall of Alta Loma the Honorary Life Membership Award from Foothill Council for his outstanding work in scouting.

In February 1910 he became a charter member of incorporation for a new organization in Washington D. C., the Boy Scouts. In 1912 he was a scout in Upland with Troop 1; in 1932 an Eagle Scout; in 1942 he received the Eagle Silver Palm with fifteen added merit badges above the requirement. In 1952 Silver Beaver for outstanding service to boyhood, the higest scouting award.

His first active duty was assistant scout master 1918-1923 with other duties; troop committeeman, explorer post committeeman, scout master, gram planning, Upland High, W. W. Wood and Sierra Vista, L. Lady of Fatima Court Views Films On Shrine

The social meeting of Court Our Lady of Fatima 1387, Catholic Daughters of America held in Ontario Women's Club was highlighted with the film taken by Mrs. Walter Rosenbrock of Ontario of the Shrine of Our Lady of Fatima in Portugal.

Mrs. Rosenbrock and her aunt, Mrs. Harry Foster of San Diego, toured 11 countries in Europe last Agust and were gone two months.

Mrs. Rosenbrock, although not a Catholic, was deeply impressed with the devotion to Our Lady of the Rosary.

Our Lady of Fatima is the name given to the apparition of the Virgin Mary seen near Fatima, Portugal, in 1917. Three Portuguese children told of having seen a vision of a lady in a cove while tending their sheep. The lady, dressed in a white gown and veil, told them to come there on the 13th day of each month until the following October when she would tell them who she was.

On Oct. 13, she said that she was the Lady of the Rosary, and told the children to recite the rosary every day. She asked that a chapel be built in her honor. The Church erected a shrine with a basilica at Fatima.

In 1932, the Church authorized devotion to Or Lady of Fatima, under the title of Our Lady of the Rosary. Two of the children who saw the vision have passed away, but the third is a nun in the area.

Mrs. Rosenbrock stated your faith did not matter. There are rooms where you may stay and be fed. Their only request is that you pray for peace and God's guidance so the world will be saved from Communism.

Mrs. Evelyn Clower, owner of a local beauty salon, used Mrs. George Hammer, to demonstrate the art of make-up.

Mrs. Andrew Subsaro, Grand Regent, informed members the business meeting would be held March 18 and on March 4, the usual business meeting date, the members were invited to visit the State Regent at Riverside.

Serving on the social committee were: Mmes. Angelo Sambito, Tina Pepitone, Irma Adanti, James Landeena, Rochina Tomassetti and Caesar Pilota.

Glendora High Takes Redlands Swim Relays

Coach Jim Stewart's Upland High School varsity swimmers were unable to regain their championship of the Redlands Relays Friday March 8 at Redland University pool as powerful Glendora swept all three classes.

Only the four-man 100 yard freestyle relay team was able to overcome Glendora's domination as they finished first with a time of 3:40.5, an average of 55 seconds each for Dick Martin, Cary Aylor, Chris Hurst, and Jack Likins who came from behind to gain the team victory.

Upland's four-man breaststroke relay team of Gary Desilets, Gideon Letz, Bob Likins, and Jack Likins were given second place behind the winning Tartans after a very close finish.

Although Fontana won the four-man butterfly competition, Upland again finished right with Glendora. The swimmers, Dennis Coon, Martin, Hurst, and Rick Strack, tied for second with Glendora.

Once more in the six-man freestyle relay the Highlanders were edged by the victorious Tartans. Swimming for UHS were Martin, Desilets, Hurst, Aylor, Strack, and Jack Likins.

Coach Stewart also entered a backstroke relay which placed sixth and a medley relay which placed fourth. Highland swimmers amassed 54 points while Glendora won 67.

In Cee class action Upland came within two points of defeating Glendora 58-60. Eric Callow, Mitchell Pomeroy, Don Shattuck, Bob Redner, Jim Scanlon, and Jim Martin paced the lightweights. The four man breastroke and four-man butterfly relays won first the Upland ceeweights.

The Highlanders begin Tri-County League action tomorrow when they travel to Montclair to meet the Cavaliers.

Next week Coach Stewart's natators face Chino and Claremont at home on Monday and Thursday respectively along with the Long Beach Invitational meet which begins Tuesday with the pre-lims and ends Friday with the finals.

Area Students Qualify For Scholarships

Quarter finalists in Southern California Edison Company's College Scholarship program were announced by D. J. Hogg, District Manager.

Outstanding high school students from this area who qualified for the Edison quarter-finals include:

Marsha L. Hunt, Upland High School; William Z. Masters, Chaffey High School; and John A. Wood, Upland High School.

The electric companys scholarship program offers six $4,000 scholarships at the winner's choice of 15 participating private colleges and universities in the Southland.

The college attended by each winner also received a direct grant of $750 annually for the four years of the scholarship.

In addition, an "Edison Gold Award" for scholastic achievement has been created and will be presented to 18 of southern and central California's foremost students who reach the finals of the electric company's scholarship program.

The award - an attractive shield wall plaque - is being offered as a new feature of Edison's college scholarship program, the electric company official said.

Three of the foremost students in this region will be selected as winners of the Edison Gold Awards by a local divisional selection board comprised of prominent educators and business and civic leaders. The board will convene on April 6, he said.

Purpose of these new Gold Awards and the Edison college scholarship program is to give recognition for academic achievement to students in communities served by the Edison Company.

"And beyond helping promising young people achieve a college education, the Edison program also is designed to give financial assistance to private colleges and universities. As a corporate citizen, the Edison Company feels it has a responsibility to help support higher education," he pointed out.

Another new feature of the Edison program this year, he said, is that the two runners-up for the actual scholarship from this dvision will each presented a share of Southern California Edison common tock.

How do we thank such a man as this?

The railroad hat is deceptive. Bill Schupbach is a lifetime Standard Oiler, retired. His grandfather, father and uncle were Standard Oilers before him.

Before retiring, Bill was a refinery foreman. His company retirement plan gives him security, and time for model railroading, but his big enthusiasm is still Standard Oil Company.

Bill keeps close to us, and we to him. He is invited to our picnics and parties, receives our publications, and is still one of the "Boys" at the refinery. He knows that he belongs.

It isn't the spoken thanks that do it; but your lasting interest in a man, your counting him as a person and not a statistic, these are the things that liven his spirit.

We have thousands of such fine men and women on our retirement payroll. If you know some of them, you know that they, too, are ardent Standard Oilers.

Planning ahead to serve you better
